U. N. Calls Off Plans To Send Troops Into Katanga Province

Passman Not To Vote For Demo Ticket

Assails Party Platform; Other Officials Concur

Congressman Otto E. Passman divorced himself yesterday from the Democratic ticket, declaring he would not vote for Sen. John Kennedy or Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

Passman vowed he's still a Democrat, but said he would not vote for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket because of the party platform.

It was the first time in Passman's 15 years in Congress that he's refused to support the Democratic candidates in a national campaign.

REASONING

His chief reason was this:

"The Democratic platform and its midnight framers have promised everything to everybody everywhere in addition to total integration."

A newspaper survey of officials contacted by the Kennedy For President Committee of Louisiana asking their support failed to produce a single follower.

"I threw mine in the wastebasket," said Rep. Woodrow Wilson of Bastrop.

Meantime, in Monroe, Passman announced his decision to go against Kennedy and Johnson, although he did not say he was going to vote for the Republican Nixon - Lodge ticket.

"It may not be a political virtue for an official to state his position," Passman said, "but, nevertheless, all officials have a position."

He added, "Therefore, as the congressman from the Fifth District, I state again that I am a Democrat and shall remain one, but I shall not support or vote for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket."

Passman attended the Democratic convention, but came home after the convention was only two days old.

"It made me sick," he said.

Passman said he wasn't surprised that northeast Louisiana public officials spoke out against the Democratic platform.

When contacted yesterday and asked if they would support the Kennedy for President Committee of Louisiana, here is what they said:

Nixon Pledges Initiative Role On Civil Rights

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Friday night that, if elected president, he would take the initiative in civil rights matters and not leave it to Congress to do the entire job.

The vice president said in a news conference "I don't think it is enough simply to say that we will get Congress to pass laws and then let them lie there."

Nixon, en route back to Washington after a campaign tour through the Hawaiian Islands, said the process of setting civil rights problems could be speeded under presidential leadership.

The vice president reported that Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers was holding conferences with executives of stores that have been involved in sit-in demonstrations by Negroes protesting racial discrimination at lunch counters.

Nixon said this approach was designed to work out solutions in a reasonable time. A court test to determine the legaltity of either

Dallas To Vote On Integration

D[illegible], Tex. (AP)— An estimated 50,000 citizens vote Saturday on whether they want Dallas schools integrated. If that many turn out, it will be twice as many as ever voted before in an election held by the school board.

The election will not change federal court orders for integration, but it may determine what kind of integration.

The school system is committed to "salt-and-pepper" integration in September 1961. That means that no one will be forced into an integrated school. Selected schools will be integrated, but attendance will be voluntary for both races.

This plan was approved in June by U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson. But Judge Davidson told Dallasites complete integration will be ordered if they vote for it

ON FREE ELECTORS

Demo Committee To Meet Aug. 11

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Democratic party leaders prepared for an all-out battle over presidential electors after chairman Charles A. Riddle announced the Democratic State Central Committee would meet Aug. 11.

Riddle put out the call Friday. The powerful 101-man committee will decide if Louisiana has 10 unpledged electors on the November ballot.

Southern Louisiana has mustered strength behind a movement to support the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. Both the Regular Democratic Organization and the Crescent City Democratic Assn. will fight the independent electors plan.

Leaders of the unpledged electors movement are Dist. Atty. Leander Perez of Plaquemines Parish, former State Sen. William A. Rainach and former Gov. Sam Jones. They are joined by others who are unhappy with the Democratic platform and nominees.

New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison, leader of the CCDA group, called the unpledged electors scheme a "ruse."

"If those who propose it do not wish to support the Democratic or Republican nominee, they should have a candidate of their own and give the people the opportunity to vote for him," Morrison said. "To do otherwise would completely mislead the public."

Gov. Jimmie Davis agreed to ask the Central Committee session be called after a meeting with a group favoring unpledged electors. Davis said he would offer "suggestions" to the central committee on the matter of independent electors.

Those who came out of the meeting with Davis said the governor was in sympathy with their goals.

If the committee favors unpledged electors, Louisiana voters would be offered three choices on the ballot—the Democratic nominees, the GOP nominees, and the free electors.

DISLIKE PLATFORMS

Elector Actions Sweeping South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dissatisfaction in several Southern states over both the Democratic and Republican platforms on civil rights has touched off court suits and rumbles of special legislative sessions to provide independent slates of electors for voters.

An Atlanta Superior Court Judge declined Friday to rule immediately on a suit seeking to ban a straw vote on the pledging of Democratic electors in Georgia.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver had proposed that voters be allowed to decide in the Sept. 14 Democratic primary on the issue of pledging party electors to vote for nominees, that party's Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

DELAYS RULING

Judge Luther Alverson said he would need time to consider arguments in the suit brought by Henry M. Henderson of Atlanta. The litigation also seeks to invalidate a 1958 unpledged elector law.

In Florida, a state legislator said he had started a move for a special session of the Legislature to provide for an independent slate of electors for dissatisfied voters.

Rep. Welborn Daniel of Lake County, a Democrat, said he had received verbal committments from more than two-thirds of the legislators in support of such a bill. He said this was enough to insure passage, even over the possible veto of Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Three-fifths of the members of the Legislature would have to ap-

Check Forger Is Tripped Up By Circulars

The chase zig - zagged through the heart of the Lasalle Street financial district with the guards shouting, "Stop that man!"

In an alley at the rear of the Harris Trust & Savings Co., a construction worker heeded their cries and stuck out his foot. Down went Woykovsky and into the arms of a policeman.

In a taxicab that Woykovsky had waiting for him outside the bank, police said they found a suitcase containing blank checks and currency totaling $16,686.

Police said he admitted forging checks here last week.

FOR NOV. 8 ELECTION

Key Proposals Get Top Ballot Billing

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' key constitutional proposals got top billing on the Nov. 8 ballot in the list of ballot numbers made public Friday.

Up high on the ballot, among the all-time record of 55 constitutional proposals, are such key administration measures as expansion of the Louisiana State University board while cutting length of terms, repealing the constitutional boards and tightening voter qualification laws.

The 55 measures were adopted by the 1960 Legislature, subject to the will of the people.

Secretary of State Wade O. Martin announced the proposed amendments will be published in one newspaper in every parish.

He listed the official ballot numbers and the constitutional measures as follows:

1. (Act 624) Adding four members to 14-man LSU board and cutting terms from 14 years to nine years. The governor and president of the LSU Alumni Federation would be ex officio board members.

2. (Act 617) Repeal constitutional Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

Soviets Call For Removal Of Belgians

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government called Friday for removal of the U.N. Congo command unless all Belgian troops are pulled out of the Congo—including Katanga Province. It termed "very alarming the behavior of the U.N. forces command."

The Soviets also declared that if present U.N. forces in the Congo do not bring about withdrawal of Belgian troops, soldiers should be sent to the Congo from "countries which would be ready to contribute to the implementation of this just act."

DEPLORES SITUATION

The Soviet government declaration, disturbed by the official news agency Tass, said the situation in the Congo is "absolutely intolerable." It called Belgian soldiers in the Congo "interventionist troops" and referred again to "aggression" it said had been launched against the Congo.

The "token withdrawal of an insignificant part of the interventionist troops, now under way, is a maneuver calculated to soothe and mislead public opinion," the statement said. It also declared the authority of the U.N. is being undermined.

Declaring the Soviet Union is for strict and effective measures to ensure the early fulfillment of Security Council decisions on the Congo, Tass said the Soviet Union proposed: "to evacuate in the shortest possible time all the Belgian troops from the territory of the Republic of the Congo, not hesitating at any means to bring this about.

"If the present command of the troops continues refusing to abide by the Security Council decisions, which make it binding on this command to act only in agreement with the government of the Republic of the Congo and to render it the necessary military support, this command should be removed and a new one appointed.

U.S. Says Two Missing Likely Behind 'Curtain'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department acknowledged Friday that it is likely two missing employes of a top-secret communications agency have gone behind the Iron Curtain.

The men involved in what may be a defection to the Communists are Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, who were employed at Ft. Meade, Md., by the supersecret National Security Agency before they vanished June 24.

Both were listed as mathematical analysts for NSA which is devoted largely to monitoring radio signals and messages on a round-the-clock basis. Presumably a major part of its work is communications intelligence which would include breaking of secret codes of other nations. Mathematics plays an important part in code-breaking.

However, in announcing the possibility of defection, the Defense Department in a written statement said the investigation of the disappearance "indicates that information in their possession if revealed could be in no way prejudicial to the security of the United States communications." The Pentagon added that neither man had "access to classified information about American weapons or defense plans."

The departmnet said, "As a result of the investigation so far it must be assumed that there is a likelihood that they have gone behind the Iron Curtain."

Maid Testifies Finch Had Gun

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Marie Anne Lidholm, 19, testified Friday at the Finch-Tregoff murder retrial that Dr. R. Bernard Finch came towards her with a gun in his hand when she investigated a woman's screams the night Barbara Jean Finch was killed.

The screams were those of Mrs. Finch, the witness said. She said she found the surgeon's socialite wife lying on her back on the floor of the garage when she ran from the Finch house to see what was the matter.

Construction At Eastgate Underway

Groundbreaking ceremonies on the Eastgate Shopping center, the largest construction project in the Twin City area in the past quarter century, was postponed yesterday. Construction on the center is already in progress.

The facility will cost in excess of $1,000,000, according to officals.

The new center, containing 617,680 square feet of space including building and parking area, will house some 14 units with room for expansion.

It is scheduled for completion in early 1961, and is being developed by Gulf Inland Corporation.

The building itself, will contain 105,000 square feet of space, and the parking lot will have space for 1200 cars.

According to officials, which include Saul A. Mintz, architect; H. L. Rosenhein, leasing agent; D. F. Burkhalter, engineer; and Gilbert Brothers, contractors; planning for this center began with a survey by Retail Research Corp., of Chicago.

This survey indicated the location of Eastgate will draw shoppers from a 75-mile radius of Monroe, embracing in excess of 300,000 population.

It was designed to give customers "one stop shopping," and is so situated that shoppers can enter with right hand turns from any direction, thus avoiding traffic hazards resulting from having to make left hand turns to busy thoroughfares.

Same Weather Is Seen Today

Just the same ole line, partly cloudy, hot and a slight chance of afternoon or evening thundershowers, was all we could get out of the weatherman last night in the way of a forecast for the Monroe area today.

A check with the Federal Aviation Agency at Selman Field found the highest temperature recorded there was 92, the low 75.

Throughout the state skies will remain partly cloudy and the chance of rain is more prominent in the southern most parts of the state with high temperatures in the 90s.

In Arkansas skies wil be clear to partly cloudy and temperatures should be in the low 90s.

IN SEVEN AREAS

Public Welfare Assistance Cut

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie Davis' new board of Public Welfare, under pressure of an adminstration two-million-dollar budget cut, Friday tightened up public assistance in seven areas.

The overall affect on the welfare program is small, however, considering the fact the total welfare budget this year including federal aid is 174 million dollars.

MONROYAN ELECTED

The board elected James C. Bolton of Alexandria chairman and Fred W. Huenefield Jr. of Monroe vice chairman.

Bolton was chairman under former Gov. Robert Kennon, continued on the board under former Gov. Earl Long, and now returns as chairman under Gov. Davis.

The board took no action concerning the commissioner's post. There have been reports that a new commissioner was under consideration.

The Welfare Department staff said nearly 23,000 children have been removed from public welfare rolls because of a new state law enacted by the 1960 Legislature.

The new law cracks down on unwed mothers who have an illegitimate child after drawing public relief.

About half these children eventually will be restored to welfare rolls, if mothers can prove they have suitable homes, commissioner Mary Evelyn Parker said.

The half still kept off the ros-

Angry Widow Calls On U.S. To Oust Cuban

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An angry widow of the Cuban revolution called Raul Chibas a criminal and a Communist Friday night, and said she would demand that the State Department throw him out of this country as an undercover agent of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Amelia Sosa Blanco cursed the newly arrived political refugee as president of a military tribunal which sent her late husband, Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, to a firing squad after Castro's rebels captured him recuperating from wounds in a Havana military hospital.

Chibas, 44, and his pretty wife, Dalai, 28, arrived in Florida Tuesday aboard their 17-foot boat. Chibas said he was out of favor and "disenchanted" with the Castro government's communistic leanings.

Sosa Blanco, accused of at least 25 murders while commanding troops in Cuba's rebellious Oriente province, was executed at Havana Feb. 18, 1959.

HE DIDN'T PLAN IT

Pilot Flies Plane With Wings Folded

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — A U.S. Navy pilot has made the first known flight in an airplane with its wings folded. He didn't plan it that way.

Lt. John B. Barnes, 34, of Jacksonville, Fla., was not aware that the wing tips of his F8U Crusader jet were folded upright—carrier deck fashion—when he took off Tuesday from Naples' Capodichino Airport.

The wing span of the Crusader is 35 feet, 8 inches. But 6 feet, 7 inches of each wing folds to a vertical position so the plane takes up less room on a carrier.

We had been working on the wings," Barnes said Friday night. "We actuated them seven or eight times. But when I took off, I thought the wings were down and locked."

Instead the ends of the wings were locked straight up.

The plane reacted sluggishly to controls, Barnes said, and he looked in a mirror and saw what was wrong. At first he thought he would have to head the jet out over the sea and jump.

But he managed to climb gently to an altitude of 5,000 feet. He circled out over Naples Bay, testing the flight characteristics. After 24 minutes in the air he brought the plane back to the airport.

"I landed a little faster than normal," said Barnes. "That was all."

U.S. Navy officers said it was believed to be the first time any carrier-type aircraft, let alone a jet, had been safely flown with its wings folded. There have been some accidents when locks failed and wings folded in flight.

Originally a Californian, Barnes attended Beverly Hills High School and the University of California at Los Angeles. He is stationed on a U.S. 6th Fleet carrier in the Mediterranean. His squadron moved to Capodichino Airport while the carrier was in port.

Urgent Meet Of Security Council Set

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Faced with a threat of bloodshed, the United Nations Friday suddenly called off plans to send U. N. troops into secessionist province of Katanga.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold made the hard decision and called an urgent meeting of the Security Council on the turbulent Congo situation. The Council will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in New York.

Hammarskjold was flying back to New York Friday night aboard a special U.N. plane to attend the Council session.

The cancellation of the plan to move a U.N. force into Katanga Saturday came in a day of swiftly moving developments.

U.N. PARTY BARRED

A 20-man U.N. advance party was barred from leaving its plane in Elisabethville, the Katanga capital. The group had been scheduled to prepare the way for U.N. troops to move in at dawn Saturday.

Instead the U.N. party returned here, accompanied by Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, who had rushed to Elisabethville Wednesday to confer with leaders of the province on the withdrawal of Belgian troops and their replacement by a U.N. force.

On his return here, Bunche went immediately into a conference with Hammarskjold. The announcement that U. N. troops would not be dispatched to Katanga came two hours later.

FEARS BLOODSHED

U.N. officials said that during his stay in Elisabethville Bunche had become convinced that any U.N. entry into Katanga could not

Raul Declares Ailing Castro To Speak Today

HAVANA (UPI)— Cuban Defense Minister Raul Castro said Friday night that his ailing brother Fidel will speak to the Latin American Youth Congress here on Saturday and "answer the enemies of the revolution" about his health.

The government tightened controls on travel in and out of Cuba as the nation awaited the premier's appearance. Four United States tourists were held without charge by Castro agents.

Raul told a nationwide television audience he would leave it to the premier to answer the rumors, but he denied anything serious was wrong.

"He is not altogether all right" Raul said. "A little repair is necessary." The statement was interpreted to mean that Fidel is in need of surgery.

Raul had been expected to lead off his speech with anti-American attacks, but started instead with his explanation of Fidel's health.

The government's anti - American campaign, meanwhile, took the form of tightened travel controls in and out of Cuba for American citizens.

Four United States tourists were held without charge by Castro agents at army intelligence headquarters known locally as "little Moscow." The American Embassy identified them as Richard Pecoraro, a New York City fireman (230 Bayview Ave., Staten Island, New York); Peter Brooks, of (78 New England Ave.) Summit, N.J., Edward J. Kuprunas, Jr., of (41-55 Greeby St.,) Philadelphia, and Chester Zuchowski, a Miami, Fla., manufacturer.

Passman Not To Vote For Demo Ticket

"I'm not going to support Kennedy. Flat not."

Rep. Lasley Downes, Rayville—"We don't have a Democratic party any more. I want to put the election in the House of Representatives."

Rep. Edgar Lancaster, Tallulah — "I cannot support the Democratic platform. In fact, I disagree with both platforms."

Sen. Speedy O. Long, Jena—"I will not support Kennedy and I'd like to see the South come up with a candidate of its own."

Later in the day, Rep. Mike John Jr. of Monroe said, "I'm not going to take an active part in the Democratic campaign."

"So serious would be the subsequent result of implementation of the Democratic platform that I could sleep better, breathe better, be happier and live longer if every elected Democratic official would speak up and speak out and think of the next generation rather than the next election."

Turning to the platform, Passman said, "If all the voters could read the Democratic platform and have it properly interpreted, including the fine print, the Kennedy - Johnson ticket would not poll 10 per cent of the Democratic vote in north Louisiana."

He said if he supported the platform he would be supporting socialism.

In addition, Passman stated, "Supporting the platform would be to embrace a spending program that would further increase our public debt and finally bring about a repudiation of it.

"It would mean that I would have to support a program that would not only embrace complete integration, but I would have to embrace mob violence. sit - ins, and shut - ins."

Passman's charge came as public officials were being contacted to determine the effect of the letter campaign conducted by the Kennedy for President Committee of Louisiana.

Here are some other comments:

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, Monroe—"I think I'll go to Bussey Brake and go fishing."

Rep. L. D. Napper, Ruston—"The only Democrats I'd support would be the Louisiana Democrats supporting unpledged electors."

Clerk of Court Robert Lowe, Winnsboro —"I don't intend to take any part in it at all. I don't like the looks of things."

Sheriff Bailey Grant, Monroe—"I never have tried to influence votes in campaigns other than my own. I think the people should judge for themselves."

Clerk of Court B. S. McRaney, Monroe —"I don't plan to take any public part in the campaign one way or another."

Florida electors now are appointed by the governor upon recommendation of the state executive committees of the political parties. They must vote for the presidential candidate who receives the majority of votes in the general election.

An independent slate of electors has been proposed by South Carolina Gov. Ernest F. Hollings. He said he would recommend to the State Democratic Convention in Columbia, Aug. 15, that the party offer two sets of electors—one uncommitted and one pledged to the Democratic ticket.

Hollings said he would personally vote for the Democratic nominees in the November general election. He added that reaction he encountered over the outcome of the national party convention was "just confusion and resentment to the platform and ticket."

In Alabama, close friends of Gov. John Patterson have indicated he is unwilling to give serious thought to a court fight.

In 1948, when Alabama's presidential electors renounced the Democratic ticket, former Gov. James E. Folsom went to court in a vain attempt to force them to vote for Harry S. Truman. But, there is no sign of an impending court suit.

However, six of the 11 Democratic nominees for elector this year have threatened another rebellion against the national party.

Patterson has said repeatedly that he still hopes some, if not all, of the six states righters will go along with the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. He has predicted a landslide victory for the Democrats.

Nixon Pledges Initiative Role On Civil Rights

the discrimination or the sit-ins could take years, the vice president said.

Nixon, in other matters, declared:

1. The congressional session this month could "turn into a donnybrook" and he called on both parties to keep this from happening. Nixon said both parties should take a responsible approach to the session.

2. He still feels that the United States and other free nations should not enter new summit talks with the Soviet Union without first getting reasonable assurances that some good would come from it.

3. He felt his visit to Hawaii had united the Republican party there. He said Republicans in the nation's newest state had been split into factions. As a result of his visit, Nixon said, the party is more united than ever in Hawaii.

Urgent Meet Of Security Council Set

be accomplished without bloodshed.

These officials said the difficult problem confronting Hammarskjold was that he had not the right to risk the lives of soldiers offered by their countries to the U.N. Congo force for police action only.

The Katanga government also had set up a simple but effective front-line defense against arrivals of U.N. troops: a ready plan to blockade the airfield at Elisabethville with vehicles, oil drums and other gear to prevent plane landings. Gunfire also was threatened against unauthorized plane landings.

Swedish troops had been alerted to leave the Leopoldville airport at 2 a.m. Saturday and would have reached Elisabethville about dawn.

The text of a U.N. statement on the reversal of plans said:

"After having received the report of Dr. Bunche on his consultations in Elisabethville, the secretary general has decided to ask for the calling of a meeting of the Security Council for consideration of the situation.

"The secretary general's report to the Council on the matter will be circulated shortly. He leaves for New York tonight in order to take part in the discussion of the Council."

A later statement issued to newsmen added: "It emerges from the report of Dr. Bunche that the local authorities in the Katanga and give evidence that they will oppose with force the implementation of the Security Council resolutions as regards the entry of U.N. troops and that therefore the introduction of such units in the Katanga by the U.N. would be possible only by resort to the use of armed force on its part.

"Such an initiative by the U.N. force is against the principals established by the Security Council for the operation of the force against the conditions on which various contributing countries have agreed to send units to the force.

"In the circumstances the secretary-general has instructed the supreme commander to cancel the sending of U.N. military units to Katanga on Saturday, Aug. 6, 1960. Further instructions will be given after the consideration of the matter by the Security Council."

Bunche was reported to have told Hammarskjold that "the mood of the Katanga officials was definitely for a showdown."

U.N. sources said Belgian officials in Elisabethville made it clear to Bunche that the scheduled arrival of U.N. transport planes at this time would provoke a major explosion.

These sources added "nobody in Katanga wanted to listen to Bunche's explanations, everybody was in a highly excited state."

There was no immediate reaction from the central Congo government, but the U.N. action was certain to be a bitter disappointment to Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba and his government. The central government has been insisting that Belgian troops be withdrawn from all the Congo at once and replaced by U.N. forces.

Public Welfare Assistance Cut

ters will save the state about $800,000 this fiscal year.

Member Barton W. Freeland Sr., Crowley, near the end of the long session, remarked, "I hope if there have to be any other changes it will affect only adults, and let's quit picking on the children."

About 90 per cent of the 22,650 children dropped from parish welfare rolls, as of Aug. 1, are Negro.

In addition to the $800,000 to be saved in the aid to dependent children program, here are the six other areas of trimming:

No further assistance will be granted to dependent children 18 or older for purposes of completing high school. An estimated 500 will be affected.

Supplementary payments to old people to cover additional needs not provided by their regular monthly grants will be restricted to medical emergencies.

Initial welfare payments, starting in September, will be handled on this basis — a full monthly payment if the application is approved during the first 10 days of a month, two-thirds if within the first 20 days, and one-third if during the last 10 days.

In the foster care program for children, the July total of 3,887 cases will be adopted as a ceiling, with the Welfare Department hoping the annual turnover will be enough to make room for needy new cases assigned by the courts.

From September on, the income of a relative other than a parent, even though not legally responsible for care of a child, will be considered in determining a dependent child's assistance.

Also from Spetember on, new applicants for general assistance, who are under 21, will be examined in the light of income of any legally responsible relative with whom the applicant lives.

FINE IDEA

HUNTVSILLE, Tex. (UPI) — The city council adopted a "pay-as-you-overpark" plan to erase hundreds of unpaid traffic violations.

Under the plan, violators can mail a quarter to police headquarters within 48 hours of the ticket. Then the fine becomes $1 for a week. If unpaid after that time, warrants are issued and a $14 fine-and-court costs levy looms.

Demo Kinfolks Of Nixon Reside On Hilltop Farm

Editor's Note:—Most people recall Vice President Nixon's father was a native of the hill country in southeastern Ohio. The Cincinnati Enquirer sent reporter Margaret Josten to learn more about his kinfolk in this rural area. The Enquirer has made her story available to The Associated Press.

By MARGARET JOSTEN
Cincinnati Enquirer Reporter

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — The Democratic kinfolk of Vice President Richard M. Nixon live on a hilltop farm near here with two horses, two cows and an assortment of chickens.

But the Republican standard-bearer need not fear opposition from these militant, blood-and-thunder relatives who fiercely defend Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

Roy Benson Nixon, his wife and son say they will go to the polls in November and cast their first votes for a Republican presidential candidate. "Not because Richard is our relative," they say, "but because we think he's the best."

Frank Nixon, late father of Vice President Nixon, was born in 1878 and raised a few miles south of this county seat in southeastern Ohio in what is known as the Ebenezer community.

He grew up in a log house, now covered with gray shingles. The front yard is overrun with weeds.

A short walk down the road from the house is the small, white clapboard church Frank Nixon attended as a boy. An iron bell in the belfry of Ebenezer Methodist church still summons worshippers to Sunday services, funerals and weddings.

Hanging beneath his mailbox on Rt. 50, five miles west of town, is a large placard carrying the name "Nixon," written with a flourish of curliques.

"Richard Milhous Nixon and I are sons of first cousins," he says after coming forward and extending his hand in a friendly grip. "But I expect you'll be wanting to see Pa about that."

He summons Roy Nixon from a patch of vegetable garden across the way. "Hey Pa, the sheriff's come to serve a warrant on you," the son calls jokingly.

The elder Nixon straightens up and approaches his visitors slowly. He is 79 years old, going on 80. But his eyes beneath a peak straw hat are young, alert, full of pride.

"I'd be the vice president's second cousin because I'm a full first cousin to his father," announces the old man as he leads the way into the house.

Not until everybody is seated in rocking chairs around an old-fashioned coal stove does talk start about the political interests of the Vinton County Nixons.

It comes from Mrs. Nixon, wife of Roy. She is hot and tired after a day in the kitchen canning quart jars of pickles and green beans.

"We're Democrats," she announces, mopping perspiration from her forehead with the end of an apron. "But we're certainly going to vote for Richard. It seems to me he's fitted for the job."

It shows that George Nixon III fought with the Union in the Civil War and died of wounds he received in the Battle of Gettysburg. He left nine children, including Samuel Brady Nixon, father of Frank, and Hiram Nixon, father of Roy.

Samuel Brady Nixon was a mail carrier, farmer, school teacher and carpenter. His children were Wadsworth, Frank, Ernest, Hugh, Carrie and Irene.

Frank worked as a hand on Vinton farms as a young man. At one point he and his cousin, Roy, went to Columbus, (Ohio) where they became street car conductors.

Frank later moved to Whittier, Calif., where he met and married Hannah Milhous.

Roy returned to Vinton County.

Folks along the main stem of this town have had a lot to talk about since Richard Milhous Nixon first burst into national prominence.

They devour local and out-of-town newspapers, tune in all political broadcasts on television. And they're recalling all kinds of anecdotes about Frank Nixon.

One recalls the time Frank arrived at school with short, precisely cut hair on one side of his head and long, uneven locks on the other.

"Pa had the bowl on my head and was in the middle of cutting my hair when it came time to go to school. So he quit," Frank explained to classmates.

He declares, "Frank never changed either. When he was back here to visit 12 or 13 years ago, he hadn't changed. So if Dick makes good speeches, he gets it honest."

And Roy Nixon tells of a visit by Frank.

"We was settin' right out there on the front porch talkin'. Richard was makin' a big name for himself in the Congress and I said to Frank, 'how about that boy of yours gettin' along so good?'

"Frank touched me on the arm and answered, 'That boy's the best orator you ever heard."

Roy met his famous cousin only once. That was when some Vinton County politicians decided it would be a good idea to take him to Columbus, where the vice president was filling a speaking engagement.

"Some body busted up on the stage draggin' me," relates Roy. "And you know what Richard said?

"He said, 'Why I'da knowed him by his nose. It's a family characteristic.'"

Father Kills 3 Children, Then Himself

HINDMAN, Ky. (UPI) — Willard Slone, 29, a former mental patient who was to have been recommitted to a mental hospital Friday shot and killed three of his four children, then turned the gun on himself and committed suicide.

The dead children were identified by Kentucky state police as Donna, 10, Bill, 8, and Douglas, 4. All of them had been shot in the head, one twice, at close range with a 16-gauge shotgun.

Police said Slone, an unemployed laborer, died from a wound in the side inflicted by the same weapon.

State Police Detective J. E. Combs, Hindman, said Slone's wife, Anna Lou, 32, who is pregnant, and another son, Kenneth, escaped.

Mrs. Slone is under a physician's care suffering from extreme shock, but police were unsure of the whereabouts of the boy.

Combs said his investigation showed that Slone had been "highly upset lately and became enraged early Friday.

Who Wants Katanga?

Katanga Province which seceded from the Congo before the ill-fated independence was granted has appeared in the headlines this week as a possible site for a "brush fire" war. The question in many minds: What is in Katanga that the rest of the Congo does not have?

Forces of the United Nations were slated to move into the province today, but the provincial governor, Moise Tshombe, has said they will have to shoot their way in.

His attitude is admirable, but not practical. Belgian officials who are in a position to know the Congo best said he has only a small police force available.

But the Belgians added the arrival of the U. N. troops would by no means indicate an immediate withdrawal of Belgian forces still in that province. Deploring the U. N. decision to send troops to the independent province as "hasty," officials said the Belgian troops would not be withdrawn until the command decides the security of persons in the province is assured.

Press releases refer to Katanga as a "rich, Belgian-supported province." And Belgium, the United States, Russia and Britain all have an eye peeled for the bomb ingredient uranium which is mined there. It is this more than anything else which has caused such a stir over the province if not all of the Congo.

Otherwise, why the reluctance of the Belgians to withdraw? Why the concern of the United States and Britain? And why the presence of Russian - trained technicians in the revolutionary Patrice Lumumba government? And no one speaks anymore of the peacetime potential of atomic power.

The year 1960 seems to have been an unfortunate year to have freed the Congo as far as U.S., British and Belgian interests were concerned. Agreements among the three nations divided the Katanga uranium production and the figures were increasing.

Also a 10-year plan including loans from Belgium closed in 1959. A treaty signed in Rome in 1957 placed the Congo as part of the European Common Market. Any or all of these agreements may be written off now as past history.

As far as the survival of the new Congo government as that of a truly independent nation, the disputed province of Katanga produces 60 per cent of the Congo's wealth. Most of the province produces copper, tin, cobalt, manganese, zinc, and platinum, in addition to the uranium mentioned above.

Also listed as products are cattle, citrus fruits, yams, maioc, pulse and plantains. Without Katanga, the new Congo would face a cut of more than half its revenue and nearly two-thirds of its electric power.

In addition to the intrigue between Russia and the western nations over Katanga's uranium, there is the basic difference between Province Governor Tshombe and Lumumba. Tshombe, a well-to-do business man was trained by European methods, particularly Belgian.

Lumumba on the other hand shows more of the tribal influence and wants a strong central government. Tshombe believes the Congo should consist of a loose federation of provinces.

His province has always maintained an air of independence. Formerly called Elizabethville, it was the last part of the Congo Free State to submit to European authority in 1891.

With this feeling of independence now working in Belgium's favor, it is possible she will strain every muscle to prevent Katanga from falling to the Lumumba government.

Belgium is also a member of the European Atomic Energy community whose treaty provides for the development of research, and the establishment of uniform security regulations for the protection of the health of the populations and the workers, the encouragement of investments, the organization of uranium deliveries and control of use of fissionable material in the community of nations.

With most of Europe's uranium located in east Germany in the Harz mountains, it appears the principal source for all of western Europe is in Katanga province in what was the Belgian Congo.

Contenders Line Up

Some observers have described the upcoming presidential campaign as one of the toughest in the history of the country. If this means a faction and personality fight, we agree. If it means a bare-knuckled battle over platforms and issues, the observers are wrong. The platforms are too similar.

Both parties have picked young men who are nonetheless experts in politics. As individuals, they are tough fighters. Vice President Nixon has not only presided over the Senate but has probably received more White House training than any other person who has served in his position.

While Senator Kennedy has spent less time serving in his post, he has built a formidable political organization run by young, aggressive men. During the convention in Los Angeles, it was noticed that the rougher elements, notably Frank Sinatra and associates, were taking their places in the Kennedy camp.

It is to be hoped this side of the campaign will not turn out to be the feature ingredient, no matter how hard fought it may become. The world situation is too menacing for the American people to be torn asunder or give the world the impression that they are.

The platforms will figure in the campaign, although no president in history has until yet called upon Congress to write every point of a campaign platform into law. The Democratic program is liberal, even radical, to the extent that Socialist Norman Thomas has called it an "excellent" platform. While the Republican platform uses more moderate wording, it is on the whole the most liberal in the party's history.

With the dust of both conventions now settled, it is easy to see in retrospect that the civil rights planks, which are of great interest to the south, were for both parties drafted as though there was no south. This lack of consideration has caused southern blood to boil. Any action taken by the Dixie states will add more fury to the campaigning. At present, there is talk of unpledged electors as well as an effort to chose a second democratic candidate as was the case in 1948 when the Dixiecrats "stamped the rooster" for Strom Thurmond.

At this writing, there are many Americans who have not made up their minds how they will vote in November. Some will let campaigning swing their preference. But many others will keep an eye on the short session of Congress next month. Many of the campaign issues will be brought to a head by the course of legislation or attempted legislation at that time.

It is anticipated that the Democrats will try to put through several "free-spending" bills while the Republicans will attempt to maintain the surplus in the national budget.

Such observation on the part of the public is more difficult than merely listening to campaign promises. But actions in Congress speak louder than nationwide addresses and citizens taking note of this will vote more intelligently next November.

Definitions And Emotions

Terms Liberal And Conservative Spell Out Moods, Images But Not Hard Fact

Liberals and Conservatives

Words may have meaning; they may be images; they may arouse emotions. They may really mean nothing. I was pondering on the words liberal and conservative as used in the Democratic conventions and came to the conclusion that while there were no precise definitions, there were images, pictures, emotions.

For instance, in 1952 Joe McCarthy was a problem to both the Democrats and the Republicans. He was regarded as a conservative, a Fascist, a hero, an anti-Communist, a pain-in-the neck. But really how could one define Joe McCarthy in precise terminology? He advocated 110 per cent parity but he would put every Communist in prison. Study that equation and what does it come up to in terms of ideas? Would not 110 per cent parity cripple our economy so that the Communists could take us over? I once argued this point with Joe, who, despite all that has been said about him, was an intelligent man. The answer to his puzzle is that whereas anti-communism is an emotional response to a profane phenomenon, it can be advocated by a liberal as well as a conservative. As a matter of historic fact, the most effective fighters against communism both in Europe and the United States are Socialists or ex-Communists; that is, Marxists.

The term, liberal, does not help us to much. It is a catch-all word used for many purposes and describing many states of mind. All the candidates of both parties regard themselves as liberals. But what do they mean? Kennedy wants more government; Nixon less. Both will be forced by the course of events to have more government if the Cold War lasts another four years. It matters little what they say now; the course of events, altogether beyond their control, will determine the condi-

Nixon recognizes that whether he or Kennedy is elected president, an explosion of ideas, events, movements will have to be met. But the means, he says, employed will be different. The factors of time, place, associates, enemies, neutrals will all have to be taken into consideration.

For example, at a moment when the United States was closest in alliance with Great Britain and France, the Suez war exploded. John Foster Dulles had minutes in which to weigh in the balance the attitude of the United States. Were we ready for a universal war? Was Russia ready? Would Russia risk that our uneasiness would be advantageous to the Kremlin? Could France, Great Britain and Israel hold the Arab forces at bay until the United Nations could settle the problem? If war broke out could it be localized or would it lead to a general war? Would the American people support a general war?

These decisions had to be made fast. The cost of error could be very great. For instance, when President Eisenhower permitted Khrushchev to abuse him in Paris, was he right? Should he have lost his temper and entered into a competition with a skunk? Should he have demanded that the summit meeting proceed without Khrushchev? Should we have declared war on Soviet Russia—such a one as the War over Jenkin's Ear?

Or to take one more example: Our State Department put Castro into power in Cuba. It turned out to be an error. Should we forthwith have sent our Marines into Cuba to take over?

These are a few samples of problems that come up and must be dealt with. Such problems will become more numerous as the Communist onslaught increases in intensity. Whether a man terms himself a liberal or a conservative, he will face these same problems. One day, it will be in the Congo; another day in Venezuela; another day on the streets of Ankara or San Francisco.

Whether a man is, by conviction, a follower of John Stuart Mill or Karl Marx or neither, he will nonetheless be faced by these problems and their immediate consequences. Usually political decisions are postponable and the politician is generally skilled in the gentle art of cover-up or confusion. After all, his task is to control human beings and their decisions. But in this era, he deals with historic problems which cannot be postponed. Every error on our part, even in error of timing, assists the enemy. Therefore, the liberal and the conservative, unless he supports the enemy, will reach the same conclusion and be forced to employ identical means.

Picking Doctor

Don't Get Bone Specialist To Treat Critical Heart Attack

When I say the RIGHT doctor do I imply that there's such a fellow as the WRONG doctor in the practice of medicine? Aren't medical schools and state authorities quite strict when it comes to letting man or woman hang out a shingle to practice medicine? Doesn't he have to be expert? Doesn't his diploma, a license, indicate that you can put your life in his hands without question?

Yes and no. Much of the outcome of illness depends upon the patient himself. Remember that medical doctors are licensed to treat any and all illnesses. If you go to a bone specialist for the treatment of your heart, he has the right to treat you — if he wants to do so. If you go to a heart specialist to have him set your fractured leg — he has the right to do so, too.

I have given you extreme examples. Rarely will you find a qualified bone specialist or cardiologist who is "comfortable" treating patients in another area of illness They know their limitations.

I recall one good doctor who was quite able; his great failing was that he believed he could do anything as well as anybody else. He thought he could do surgery as well as a carefully trained surgeon; practice obstetrics as well as the best obstetrician; make a diagnosis as well as the best internist (diagnostician). Occasionally, he got into trouble because he got into deep water.

If somebody in your family is sick, consider yourself fortunate if you have a good general practitioner as a family adviser. He will treat many of your illnesses — but he will know his limitations — an any good doctor should.

If your husband has a critical coronary attack, he will not hesitate to call in a cardiologist. If your son has a compound fracture suffered while skiing or climbing the old apple tree, he will call a reputable orthopedist in consultation. Not always because he can't do the job himself, but because he knows you are concerned and wants to put your mind at ease.

Don't gamble that you can quickly get the RIGHT doctor if illness strikes. You will settle for anyone in an emergency.

The time to choose a good family doctor is when the skies are cloudless. It is difficult to act wisely when you are beset by the thunder and lightning of illness.

If you haven't the phone number of a trusted medical friend and adviser, better get busy. It's the most important thing on your calendar for today.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have been having heart skips but am afraid to go to a doctor for fear of what he may tell me. I think I'd drop dead if he told me I have heart trouble. Mr. E.

COMMENT: There's a much greater chance of something like that happening if you don't find the real cause.

If the skips and irregularity are due to a condition we call auricular fibrillation, the doctor will give you medicine for the underlying condition that will prolong your life.

If the skips are premature contractions often found in a "nervous heart," it will be reassuring to learn that you are in no danger of "dropping dead."

Either way you will sigh with relief, after your visit to the doctor.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "How To Be A Happy Hypochondriac," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self - addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling charges. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c-o this newspaper.

Suburbs Growing

Bigger Population In Areas Call For More Representatives

The preliminary results of the 1960 Census, showing a population explosion in the Nation's suburbs, have caused many members of Congress to sit up and take note.

As early Census calculations are made public, one glaring truth becomes increasingly apparent — the bulk of the people of this country are not equitably represented in their state legislatures and the National House of Representatives.

While this situation is not new to students of political science and government, the present shift from country to cities and suburbs is so great some members of Congress feel it's time something was done about it.

The Constitution provides that each state, regardless of size, shall have two United States Senators and at least one member of the National House. Membership in the House is allocated to the states on the basis of the preceding Census but it is left up to the legislatures to determine the geographical boundaries of the allotted Congressional districts.

It's this latter situation which prompted Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Dem.-Pa., to propose a Constitutional amendment which would make reapportionment in every state legislature compulsory following a Census.

Purpose of the proposal would be to insure a fairer representation in the legislature as Clark's amendment would be coupled with legislation establishing uniform standing for redistricting.

The National House would eventually reflect the changes in the state bodies by reason of the fact that as urban areas gain majorities in the legislatures, Congressional districts would follow population instead of political lines.

Clark contends urban and suburban areas are under - represented in both Houses of virtually every one of the 50 state legislatures and in many, a small minority of the rural population control one or both houses.

He cites the fact that in 33 state senates, fewer than 40 per cent of the people are represented by a majority of the members of those bodies. The worst example of this situation, Clark points out, is in the Connecticut House where one member represents 682 times as many people as one of his colleagues.

Clark and others in Congress are not the only ones who apparently feel State legislatures needed to be prodded into action. The State Supreme Court of New Jersey recently ordered the legislature to reapportion the seats in the State Assembly before the April 1961 primary election.

The June 6 decision of the New Jersey court flies in the face of the famous 1946 ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court which refused jurisdiction primarily on the ground that problem was "of a peculiarly political nature and therefore not meat for judicial determination."

Clark's amendments, if ratified by conventions in at least 38 of the 50 states would by - pass any Supreme Court interpretation.

Because the proposal directly affects the legislatures, which normally ratify Constitutional amendments, Clark has chosen the alternate or convention procedure for accepting or rejecting his amendment.

If passed it would: 1. require state reapportionment and redistricting as may be necessary to secure equitable representation in state legislatures:

2. Require action to be taken by each state upon ratification and thereafter when the results of each decennial federal census are announced; and

3. Authorize Congress to legislate standards and manner of reapportionment and redistricting.

Under the companion measure introduced by Clark for establishing a formula for redistricting, the governor of state could act if the legislature failed to do so. This failing, the state supreme court could step in under the Clark bill.

Support for the Clark amendment will undoubtedly come from Congressmen representing states with large urban areas. Opposition will come from those members representing predominantly rural states, many of which are already slated to lose House membership as a result of the current Census.

There is no concerted effort to even get the Clark amendment off the ground this year. Since he only introduced the proposal on June 30, a few days before the convention recess, it is unlikely anything will happen on it before adjournment.

Clark himself has stated he wants "full public discussion" of the proposal before public hearings are held next year. Chances are the next Administration, regardless of who is elected President will support the move as both Nixon and Kennedy come from states with large urban areas.

Passing Remarks

In Show Business, Some Compliments Leave Scars

"Don't call us — we'll call you."

He used to be so handsome. Now he could play King Lear without makeup."

"I did tell the producer you were waiting, and he still says he isn't in."

"Well, since you're in the theater, naturally, we'll expect payment in advance."

"You didn't do so well in that last walk - on part, honey. How about playing an off-stage noise for a change?"

"I saw him in summer stock and I guess his real metier must be winter stock — if there is such a thing."

"Baby, you know what that television camera would do to your face in closeups. Maybe your future is in radio."

"Everybody on Broadway is talking about you. What are they saying? Oh, they're wondering whatever happened to you."

"She isn't the kind who believes her own press notices. On the other hand, she never got any."

"He is not only a lousy actor. He also makes a lousy ice cream soda when he's at liberty. There isn't a drugstore left in town that would hire him."

"His most successful role was in Salome. He played the head on the platter."

"He's the only actor I know who always had to hitchhike back from Philadelphia."

"I didn't exactly say she was slipping. All I said was her own mother had resigned from her last fan club."

"Sorry, darling, but the role of Lady Macbeth has already been cast. Would you consider playing one of the witches? On second thought, how about playing all three?"

"Since she bought that new ball point pen, her fan mail has tripled."

"Yep, it was a tough break. Two days after getting his false teeth he gets a part where he has to deliver Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. He didn't have to wait for the audience to hiss. He hissed himself."

"Pay me what you owe me and I'll be glad to give you your baggage."

"The only place she does a good job of acting is at the altar —and, after all, she's been there five times."

"Success never went to his head. It went to his stomach. That's why the only thing he can play now is 'Falstaff'."

"The way I hear it is that the department store hired him on Dec. 1 to play Santa Claus on a run-of-the-season contract — and the very next day they fired him."

Daily Devotional

But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in His law doth he meditate day and night. — Psalm 1:2.

In our hectic and hurrying society, the good man pauses to meditate upon the really important issues of life. This verse from Psalms teaches that we should deliberately direct our thoughts to things eternal. If we are wise, we will admit that such discipline is mandatory in modern life — and that where there is a will to meditate, there is a time and way. A good place to start every week is in church. Religious services will be held all around us tomorrow. Attendance will help every one of us.

Father, as we approach the Lord's Day, lead us to prayer and meditation in Thy holy sanctuaries. In Christ's holy name we ask. Amen.

Assault Try Charged To Texas Priest

EDINBURG, Tex. (UPI) — A Catholic priest was charged Friday with the attempted rape of a 20-year-old worshipper and authorities said he had been questioned about the rape-slaying of a south Texas beauty queen.

The priest was identified as John B. Feit, 27, who was assigned to a church at San Juan, Tex., near here.

Dist. Atty. Robert Lattimore said Feit is now in San Antonio, Tex. He was working through the South Texas Diocese at Corpus Christi to have Feit returned to Edinburg.

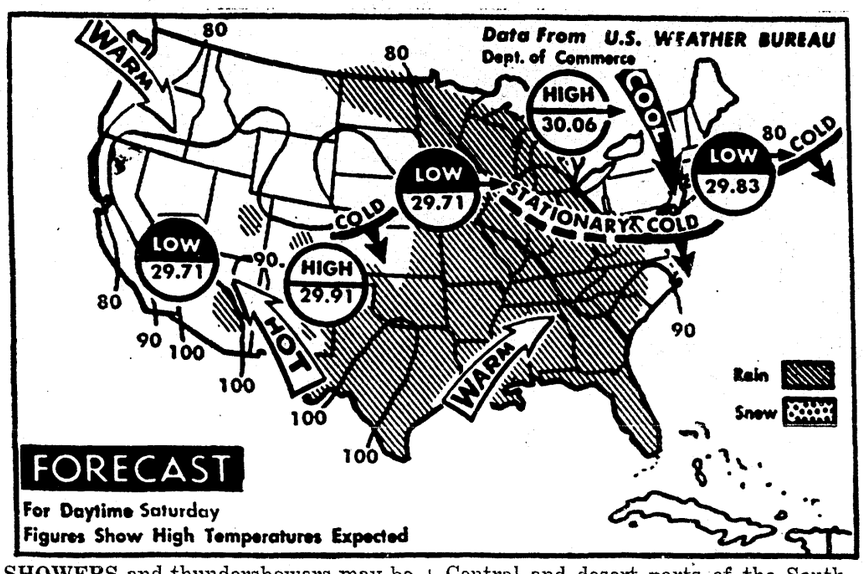
Irene Garza, 25, a second grade schoolteacher, vanished April 16. She left her home to attend a pre-Easter Catholic Mass and failed to return. Her body was found five days later in an irrigation canal in nearby McAllen. An autopsy disclosed she had been raped and killed by a blow which crushed her skull.

Feit was charged with assault with intent to rape a coed at Pan American College in Edinburg on March 26.

The young women reported that a man tried to attack her as she walked to the Communion rail for Rosary at the Sacred Heart Catholice Church in Edinburg.

The coed said she bit the man's finger and he let her go. It was discovered later that Feit had an injured finger, but he said he cut it on a mimeograph machine, the district attorney said.

Lattimore said Feit had been questioned extensively in connection with the Garza slaying and had been given lie detector tests by the Texas Rangers and the Texas Department of Public Safe-



SHOWERS and thundershowers may be widespread Saturday through the western Great Lakes and upper Mississippi Valley while scattered activity may break out over the Southwest, south Central and desert parts of the Southwest. SAYS NEWSPAPER UNTRUE

Student Denies Expelled From USSR On Spy Charges

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)— An American exchange student Friday categorically denied charges by a Moscow newspaper that he was expelled from the Soviet Union for espionage.

The student, Edwin B. Morell, 31, of Salt Lake City, said he would decide whether to make specific answers to the charges when he sees the original story as carried in the newspaper Trud.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow said the paper's charges were "news to us," but it was true Morrell had been asked to leave the U.S.S.R.

Morell said he attended Moscow State University for 10 months to make a political and legal study of Soviet trade unions. He intended to write a doctor's thesis.

The embassy said Morell had his program approved before he left for the Soviet Union. Morrell said he was told by the Soviet Ministry of Higher Education that he was being expelled on recommendation of his Soviet advisor for not fulfilling his study plans.

"None of the charges mentioned now were brought up at that time," Morrell said. "The ministry denied me the opportunity to answer the charges. I did answer, however, in writing."

Morrell said that no mention was made at that time of expelling him from the country. He said he left the university, but was given permission to reside in Moscow an additional week at a hotel with his wife.

Trud also said Morell was expelled from Czechoslovakia 10 years ago as a spy. But the embassy said he was expelled for carrying out missionary work for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon.)

Morrell added he was given tourist visa for Czechoslovakia in September 1959 and July 1960.

The newspaper said Morrell in Moscow 'acted in a provocative way. He spoke bitterly of everything Soviet, he laughed insultingly about our life. He turned other foreign students against our Soviet life and country. He constantly tried to penetrate trade union organizations of military plants so as to fulfill his intelligence mission."

The trade union newspaper's lengthy article expounded the familiar theme that many tourists, students and delegates to international meetings in Moscow are actually spies.

Morrell graduated from Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah, and received a master's degree in political science from Harvard University.

Johnson Orders Close Watch On Flying Objects

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators have been ordered by Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson to keep "close watch" on major developments involving unidentified flying objects, it was disclosed Friday.

Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, also has ordered the staff of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee to give him a report on any "significant" sightings of UFO's along with an analysis of resulting Air Force investigations.

Congressional sources said the check has been underway some time but that nothing sensational has turned up so far.

Johnson revealed his order in a letter to retired Marine air Maj. Donald E. Keyhoe, head of a private group called the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena. The organization has been battling for years to gain official recognition of the existence of such things as flying sacuers.

Fines of $25 and costs were levied on: Eddie G. Freeman, 47, Negro, Brooklyn, N.Y., Maurine Nelms, 44, 1506 N. McGuire St., charged with disturbing the peace; Donald R. Meggison, 24, Calvin, charged with driving with defective brakes; Moses Cooper, 34, Negro, 3 Solomon's Alley, charged with permitting an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle.

Cooper pled innocent to a charge of disturbing the peace and will be tried Sept. 23. John L. Taylor, 50, Negro, West Monroe, was sentenced to 10 days in jail on the charge.

Three Bastrop Men Arrested By City Police

A Bastrop trio was arrested by Monroe police yesterday and charged with contributing to the delinquency of juveniles and one was also charged with illegal possession of weapons.

Arrested at Balsamo's Esso station on DeSiard St. at 5:12 this morning, the three are William E. McDougald, 22, Route 4, Bastrop; Walter Schellette Jr., 22, 1248 South Washington St., Bastrop; and Bessie T. Emerson, 18, Route 4, Bastrop.

Schellette was aslo charged with the weapons charge.

The three were said to have in company with them a 15 - year-old girl, and, according to officials, had been drinking.

All three were placed on $500 bonds, and will be tried in municipal court August 10.

CLOTHES MAKE YOUR MAN

Wife Has World's Worst Taste; Wants Summit Meet

DEAR MR. JUSTER: I'm in a dilemma. My sweet wife loves to buy me ties, shirts, etc. Her intentions are good, but she has the world's worst taste. If I don't wear some of these monstrosities, she's put out; if I do, my day is spoiled. How do you go about hinting to a wife you prefer doing your own picking?

Not Henpecked

This is no time for hinting. Arrange a little "summit" meeting with her. First stress your appreciation for her intense interest. Then tactfully point out that clothes are a personal matter. Explain that we all have strong individual tastes and you enjoy the privilege of exercising yours. I'm sure she will understand. As one man to another, let's hope so.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: When will men's wear people wake up and design clothing practical for hot weather? I'm tired of seeing my husband suffer in his suits and have a few simple suggestions. Omit the collar on coats, remove the lining and cut the sleeves to the elbow. Some of my friends laugh at these ideas but men certainly would be a lot more comfortable.

Mrs. R. H.

You may have the last laugh. As a matter of fact, a short - sleeved suit now is being tested. So one of your suggestions has been followed. Now it will be interesting to see the response. Who knows, your styled coat and knee length shorts might eventually be the standard summer suit.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: I am planning on going to college this fall and have started to think about the kind of clothes I'll need. I've noticed some ads on suits that feature hopsack; others talk about hopsacking. What is the difference?

Bill R.

I-N-G. They are one and the same. Hopsack or hopsacking — take your choice —is a basket weave type of fabric available in either bulky or fine affects, depending on the yarns used. You'll find them among the top fabrics for sport jackets, slacks and suits for campus wear. Ideal in natural shoulder clothing.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: We live in the midwest. For our vacation we're going to Yellowstone and the west coast by car. My husband isn't quite sure what kind of clothes to take. We know we'll run into plenty of hot weather. Can you give him a few suggestions?

Mrs. Elmer T.

You'll run into cool weather, too, so have him pack a long - sleeved sweater, warm jacket and a pair of heavier slacks. The other main items are a suit, a few ties and shirts for any dress-up occasions, sport coat, several lightweight slacks, sport shirts, comfortable, casual shoes and swim trunks. Sneak in some walking shorts. A raincoat will come in handy, too. And don't forget sun glasses and a camera!

TIP FOR THE DAY

Stand Naturally

Mr. Juster will be glad to answer your problems. His leaflet, "Knotty Problems" will show you how to get an attractive knot in your tie, whether it's a four-in-hand or bow. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Harry Juster in care of the World.

Aged Count Father

LUCCA, Italy (AP)—A son was born Thursday night to Count Aubry William Tealdi and Princess Lidia Maria Caracciolo, whose marriage five years ago caused quite a stir because he was 74 while she was only 15. A daughter was born to the couple in 1957.

German Reds Renew U.S. Spy Charges

BERLIN (UPI)—East Germany renewed its spy charges Friday against the U.S. military mission in the Soviet zone in a steadily increasing pressure campaign against the Allied position in West Berlin.

The series of recent Communist moves has heightened speculation that the Reds might be planning some sort of putsch against West Berlin before the U.S. presidential elections.

Friday's charge was made at a youth forum in Chemnitz by Horst Sindermann, head of the "Free German Youth."

Members of the American, British and French military missions in East Germany have been manhandled several times in recent weeks by Communist police.

There have been fears in West Berlin that economic difficulties and other irritants making for discontent in East Germany could lead the Communists to some adventure which could be dangerous.

However, officials here tend to discount reports that the East Germans, or the Soviets, would go as far as taking military action against the western part of the city.

The East Germans have opened up a new propaganda campaign and have stepped up interference with trucks using the lifeline through East Germany to West Berlin. Some cargos have been confiscated allegedly because they were destined for construction of West German military bases.

The Soviets, in particular Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, have threatened to make a separate peace treaty with East Germany if the Allies do not get out of West Berlin. And it was believed that East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht recently made his "vacation" trip to Moscow to urge Khrushchev to sign such a treaty.

British Gang Problems To Be Studied

By DAVID ELIADES

LONDON (AP) — America's teen-age delinquents the "Teddy" gangs of Britain, and the problem kids in the rest of the world will come under scrutiny in London next week during a United Nations congress on world crime.

The meeting will be the second since 1955 on the prevention of crime and the treatment of offenders.

Announcing the subjects to be discussed, the Home Office Permanent undersecretary, Sir Charles Cunningham, said juvenile delinquency—and new forms it is taking—will highlight the 12-day conference.

About 700 delegates will attend. Among them will be police and prison officials, justices, educators and social scientists.

A study entitled "New Forms of Juvenile Delinquency: Their Origin, Prevention and Treatment" will be placed before them. It was prepared by West Germany's Judge Wolf Middendorff from material obtained from many parts of the world.

The report shows an alarming increase in the gravity of juvenile delinquency. In the United States, it said, the FBI reports that "47 per cent of the more serious crimes are committed by juveniles."

And in the Philippines, the problem has "become so acute that public opinion is alarmed at this growing menace."

The study reported a rapid rise in the juvenile delinquency in England, Wales, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, East and West Germany, Yugoslavia, Austria, Greece, France, Sweden and Finland.

Police Search For Articles Reported As Lost

Monroe police are searching for two losses that were reported yesterday — one, a ladies wallet, and the other, a set of car keys.

Mrs. George Cerniglino, of 111 Smith St., reported that she lost a black leather ladies wallet between 2:45 and 3:45 yesterday afternoon which contained approximately $140 in cash, identification cards and personal papers.

She stated that she lost the pocketbook somewhere near Bennett's Service Station, located in the 200 block of Harrison Street.

Mrs. Cherry Moncrief, of Route Two, Monroe, reported that she lost the keys to her small foreign car. She told police that the keys were on a gold chain, and that there were two car keys and three suitcase keys on the chain.

Mrs. Moncrief believed that the keys were lost in the 300 block of DeSiard Street.

Johnson Speaks At O.C. Event

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson said Friday the principal reason for reconvening Congress Monday will be to complete the legislative program already passed by the House.

However, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee did not rule out the possibility that new legislation along the lines of the Democratic platform might be introduced.

He said the Senate's main job would be to complete work on the minimum wage bill, medical plan for the aged and appropriation measures already acted on by the House.

Johnson was the principal speaker at a barbecue luncheon honoring Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma on the publication of his book "Land Wood and Water.' Johnson wrote the foreword for the book.

She reportedly took merchandise from the shop valued at $6.35, according to police.

He is to appear in the juvenile office this morning.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

BY DORTHY KILGALLEN

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Her guest columnist today is Hollywood Academy ward winner, Jack Lemmon.)

Jack Lemon write:

People often ask me what makes people laugh. I wish I knew for sure.

Probably the only positive way is to tickle their feet. A sure formula for screen comedy is as elusive as a waiter's eye when you're in a hurry for your check.

I remember sweating over a line in "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" that I wanted to be funny. I am the skipper of the title ship in the comedy and it is captured by Capt. Shigetsu of the Japanese Imperial Navy, who turns out to be a 1938 graduate of UCLA.

"Bachelor of science," he hisses, "in horticulture."

To which I am supposed to deadpan: "So let's talk about the Rose Bowl games. I'm a Stanford man."

Now what is the funniest way to say it? Should I pause before I begin? Should I say it with a kind of shrug? Should I give my reply a certain inflection? Or should I say it all at once at one flat level? You see the picture and find out whether it gets a big laugh or lies there like a lox.

Anyway, after making a thorough study of laughter, I can only offer a few opinions on what it is.

Laughter is just dry tears. There's no such thing as comedy in itself. One of two things makes for comedy. Either superiority or contrast. If there wasn't a horse, people wouldn't laugh at a mule. If a guy goes into a Chinese chop suey house and orders fried rice, so what? If he orders strawberries and sour cream, everybody laughs. If a fellow named Shapiro says he was born in Dublin, Ireland, it results in an automatic chuckle. If a stuffy old dowager with a superiority complex slips on a banana peel and goes down in a flurry of upset dignity, everybody howls.

That's what made the oldtime comedians like Chaplin, Keaton and Laurel and Hardy so great. They epitomized situations in which the ordinary fellow as always being pushed around. They were like kids pressing their noses against Christmas store windows and never being able to get the expensive toys inside. They kept reminding people of incidents similar to those in real life. I play such a role in "The Apartment," and I hope it comes off.

Comedy is also a case of economics. Depression periods, etc., call for extremely specialized type of comedy. All the oldtime comedy greats realized that and had a touch of genius on the laugh pulse of America.

When one of those comedians threw a pie in the villain's face or placed a well - directed boot in his derriere, there probably wasn't a single working man in the theatre audience who didn't visualize himself doing the same thing to a mean boss or some other person who had been pushing him around for a long time.

Economics have changed drastically today, but the basic premise of comedy hasn't. People still have problems and they're still being pushed around, but there aren't too many modern comedians around who have captured the knack of portraying people with modern problems. Jerry Lewis is one, and the Mexican comedian, Cantinflas, is another. They have that delicate knack, just like the truly great comedians of the past, of shifting from comedy to drama with total believability.

As far as actresses go, Judy Holliday and Doris Day are two wonderful comediennes who have that knack, too.

However, you need a fine tooth comb to find any others. Really fine comedians and comediennes in Hollywood today are as rare as six - fingered hands.

But I'm digressing. To get back to the original analysis, or the attempt at it, comedy isn't too far removed from pathos. And getting down deep into the core of it, what is laughter? Why does a person say, "I laughed until I cried"?

As I said, laughter is dry tears.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases

We have had many questions on Man-Tan, a new chemical tanning preparation. This product contains dihydroxyacetone, which darkens the skin within 6 hours and wears off gradually in the course of several days. We do not know the action of this drug, but so far no adverse effects have been reported.

If you try this product, use it on a forearm first because the color varies from person to person. Not everyone develops the attractive tan as pictured in the ads; some get a yellowish sallow tint. In addition, the substance may discolor the hair. This is only part of the story. An ordinary tan protects the skin from sunburn but this does not happen with a deep chemical tan. Sunbathers who do not realize this may burn severely.

Can a person sweat blood? No, but there is a basis for the expression. At times, colonies of red or orange bacteria live in the armpits on shafts of hair. These microorganisms color the sweat and we can understand how it is mistaken for blood, especially when there is a massive infestation. In such instances the colored material is neither blood nor sweat.

Colored sweat is noted occasionally but it usually is yellow —and less often, green, blue, or blue - black. It may fluoresce brightly in the dark. This secretion comes from the apocrine sweat glands, and is localized to certain areas of the body. If the condition is generalized in copper miners, for example, the regular sweat glands may exude green perspiration.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

SWOLLEN EYELIDS

M. F. writes: Is surgery recommended for swollen eyelids?

REPLY

Only when fat accumulations are responsible for swelling of the lower lids. Surgery is no value when the lids are waterlogged.

BLUE BABY SURGERY

P. H. writes: Are blue babies who have been operated on successfully able to lead a normal life thereafter?

REPLY

In many instances, surgery overcomes but does not correct the defect, which means heart trouble still exists. But it is less serious than before surgery. These children should avoid a life of hard work, excitement and overexertion. When it is possible to correct the defect, there is no reason why a normal life cannot be lived.

THE ANTIBIOTIC HABIT

R. M. writes: I know a family that will use any leftover antibiotic they may have on hand when someone in the household develops symptoms similar to those for which the medicine was prescribed. I contend it is harmful to take the antibiotics indiscriminately. What is your view in the matter?

REPLY

Never give leftover medicines to another person, especially an antibiotic that was prescribed specifically for one type of infection. In addition, taking the medicine may mask a serious ailment temporarily and delay much needed treatment.

COD LIVER OIL

R. W. writes: Is cod liver oil allowed on a low cholesterol diet?

REPLY

Yes, but it is too expensive to be used in large amounts as an unsaturated oil to lower the blood cholesterol.

EDEMA WITH CIRRHOSIS

F. M. E. writes: Does the abdomen bloat with cirrhosis of the liver?

REPLY

Yes, but not until the disease has existed for some time. There are other causes of bloating so don't come to any rash conclusions until liver tests have been made.

Kansas Seizes Plant In Strike

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The state seized strike-bound Kansas City Power & Light Co., Friday after failure of negotiations between the utility and an electrical workers union.

Official papers carrying out the ultimatum of Gov. James T. Blair were served on officials of the firm and Local No. 1464.

The governor acted under a state law which provides for technical seizure of a utility if a strike endangers public welfare.

The union local was one of three which went on strike against the firm three weeks ago. Members of the other two approved new contracts, but have respected the picket lines of Local 1464, composed of outside production workers.

Supervisory employes have been operating company facilities.

Officials of the local said they would challenge the governor's order.

X-15 Speed Record 2,196 Miles Hour

Repudiation Of Platform Is Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) Friday accused Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts of repudiating the new Democratic party platform on which Kennedy is seeking the presidency.

Scott, a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, attacked Kennedy's proposal to delay congressional action on some Democratic platform pledges beyond the short session of Congress which opens Monday.

Scott, in a statement issued by his office here said Kennedy has admitted "his party's platform is not worth the paper that it is written on."

He cited Kennedy's statement in New York that the post convention congressional session would not act on the Democratic pledges, and said: "Congress enacts laws. The Democrats have a 2-1 majorty in both Senate and House of representatives. If the Democrats will not try to implement their platform with a 2-1 majority, when do they propose to try?"

"The fact is," Scott continued, "that the pitchmen who wrote the Democrats' platform never intended it to be taken seriously. From the junior senator from Massachusetts— Kennedy — on down no Democrat believes that the extravagant platform promises could possibly be enacted."

Scott said Kennedy "is vague about the operation of Congress since he has one of the worst absentee records in the Senate."

"We in the Senate wonder about Sen. Kennedy's plans for this special session," Scott continued. "It was his own party's leaders who insisted on having this session prior to the national election, so that they must have some plans.

"I can make one suggestion. In the past session of Congress, Sen. Kennedy missed 120 of the 159 recorded votes—as of June 27. The senator could use this special session to find out what the inside of the Senate looks like."

Girl Is Bitten By Copperhead Saving Cousin

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—Benita Ballard, 8 saved her baby cousin from being bitten by a poisonous snake, but the copperhead struck her on the foot.

She was hospitalized in serious condition.

Benita and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ballard of Odessa, Tex., were visiting relatives when the incident occurred Thursday.

The girl was pushing her year-old cousin, Leonard Holloway, in a stroller near the home of her uncle, Charles Holloway.

She said the snake struck toward the stroller and she pushed it out of the way, thinking only of the child's safety.

"It wasn't anything," she told hospital attendants. "I just wanted to save him."

The snake struck again, this time sinking its fangs in Benita's left foot. Her screams brought her uncle on the run. He killed the snake and Benita was rushed to the hospital.

Her condition had improved Friday.

STUDYING COMMISSION

State Group On Mississippi Tour

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Three members of the Louisiana Sovereignty commission visited Mississippi Friday to study the operation of the national's only official state watchdog against racial desegregtion.

Albert Jones, director of the Mississippi commission, and Erle Johnston, public relations director, explained the rules, procedures and goals of the Mississippi group.

The three visitors were Frank Voelker Jr. of Lake Providenc, chairman of the Louisiana commission; Sen. Wendell P. Harris of Baton Rouge, commission vice chairman; and John H. Deer of Baton Rouge, executive secretary of the Louisiana Commissioner.

In an interview later, Voelker said the Louisiana group still was organizing and they would present the information they learned at the next meeting, scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday in the Louisiana Senate lounge.

Voelker said the Louisiana commission would try to fit in what has been learned in Mississippi. "After all," he said, "Mississippi has had four years' experience in this. We're just starting."

Sen. Harris, author of the Louisiana Sovereignty Commission law, said he patterened it after Mississippi's law and made few changes, none of them major.

Louisiana even appropriates the same amount of money as does Mississippi—$175,000 a year.

Gov. Ross Barnett, chairman of the Mississippi commission, pledged Mississippi's full cooperation with Louisana.

Lawyer Invited To U-2 Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Attorney Vincent Hallinan said Friday he has accepted a Soviet invitation to be an observer at the trial of Francis Gary Powers, the American U2 pilot charged with spying.

Hallinan plans to leave for Moscow by plane Aug. 13 for the trial, scheduled to start Aug. 17, he said.

Hallinan was candidate for ion last year and later wrote a pamphlet on the administration there of justice.

Hllinan was candidate for president on the Independent Progressive party in 1952.

He recently was restored to law practice after a three-year suspension, stemming from his conviction of federal income tax evasion. He served a term in the McNeil Island prison in Washington.

"I assume they are inviting attorneys from various countries to observe how the trial is conducted," Hallinan said. "I feel quite honored to be selected as one to be invited to attend from the United States."

TO SOUTH CAROLINA

Solon Demands U.S. Apologize

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) called on the Justice Department Friday to apologize publicly to two South Carolina counties whose voting records were the target of an FBI civil rights investigation.

Johnston, a leader of the Senate southern bloc, said that McCormick and Clarendon counties in his state were among 12 southern counties where the department conducted inquiries to determine whether Negroes were deprived of their right to register to vote.

The investigations were regarded as a preliminary step before the department sought the appointment of voting referees to insure registration of qualified Negro voters. The referees were authorized by the new civil rights law passed earlier this year.

Johnston demanded that the Justice Department's civil rights division, which administers the law, "exonerate the citizens of the two counties and the state of South Carolina."

He said the three-months-old inquiry has produced no public conclusions but that the department "does not now have the courage to issue a report which would exonerate the officials of the counties which were politically slandered by the groundless investigation."

He said the inquiry was "trumped up for political purposes in an election year."

Johnson's comments were made after he was informed by the department that it would not file a report on its findings in McCormick and Clarendon counties.

Henry Putzell Jr., chief of the elections section of the Civil Rights division, said the inquiry was not an investigation "in the FBI sense" inasmuch as no charges were made against anyone.

But Johnston said the "great fanfare and publicity accompanying the launch of the investigation last May was an implication of charges."

IN ESPIONAGE CASE

Conviction Upheld By Appeals Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Court of Military Appeals Friday upheld the espionage conviction of former Army M-Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes who admitted he sold secret information to the Russians while working in the U.S. Embassy garage in Moscow.

Rhodes, who ran the embassy garage in 1951-52, was convicted on spy conspiracy charges by an Army court-martial at Ft. McNair here on Feb. 21, 1958. He was sentenced to five years of hard labor, a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allownces.

Chief Judge Robert E. Quinn wrote the appeals court opinion upholding the conviction. Judges George W. Latimer and Homer Ferguson concurred.

Rhodes' activities came to light when he testified at the 1957 trial of Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, the Soviet "master spy" who is now serving 30 years in prison for espionage.

GAVE MILITARY SECRETS

Rhodes, an Army meteorlogical technician, testified that he gave the Russians military and other secrets while serving in Moscow. He said the Russians paid him rubles equivalent to $2,500 to $3,000.

A former Soviet agent, Reino Havhanen, testified that he was told by Abel to contact Rhodes as "agent Quebec" in 1955 after the Army sergeant had returned to the United States.

The Ft. McNair Court martial followed the Abel trial. The prosecution contended that the Russians forced the lanky, gray-haired sergeant into espionage by threatening to expose his illicit affair with a Russian woman.

UPHODS CONVICTION

In upholding the court martial conviction, Quinn said that Rhodes "specifically agreed to continue to coperate with the Soviets after he returned to the United States."

"On his own admission," Quinn said, "the accused (Rhodes) gave (the Rsssians) 'specific answers' about 'specific events' at the embassy."

Quinn said that Rhodes told the Russians about the activities of a U.S. air attache, bout his own code training, "and finally, he apparently indicated a willingness to report on documents that he might see in the embassy."

The last hometown on Rhodes' military record was Eatontown, N.J., where his wife was working during his court martial.

Castro May Have Lung Tuberculosis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mysterious illness which has sidelined Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro is reported to be tuberculosis of the left lung.

Seemingly authentic reports of this have reached diplomatic officials who have been intensively checking into the welter of conflicting rumors about the Cuban leader's condition.

Castro will recover, it is believed, if he accepts proper medical care including rest from his turbulent role as boss of the revolutionary regime.

Information now available apparently has dispelled rumors that Castro had been shot by foe or that he has cancer.

Earlier reports from aides in Havana claimed Castro was recovering from a slight pneumonia attack.

Diplomtic informants said they did not know how seriously the disease had affected his lung.

Extended Mail Service Slated

Homer B. Roark, West Monroe postmaster, has recently announced new extensions of mail service.

Rural mail service will be extended to include Griffin Road, West Fairway Drive, Sherwood Forrest Drive, Shalmar, Elmwood, Fernwood, Roberta Streets, T. John Road, Hale Road, Oak Street (off Wallace Road), Dixie Drive, and Sherwood Drive, effective today.

City deliverey service has been extended to 300 Medorrah, 300 Marie, 1500 MacMillan Road, and 100 Sharon Drive.

Russians Slated For Visit To Twin City Area

Some 20 Russians, who will be among a bus load of 41 delegates to the Fifth World Congress at Seattle, will visit the Twin Cities on September 14, it was announced recently.

The group will make a tour through the South after the Congress ends in early September.

Upon arrival here the group will tour Olin Mathieson's Research Center in West Monroe and make a quick visit to the Louisville Cooperage Co. and the Walter Kellogg Lumber Co. here.

That night the group will be guests of Olin Mathieson, Louisville Cooperage and Kellogg Lumber at the barbecue at White Columns, the home of Olin's forestry department in West Monroe.

LA-ARK LEAGUE

Ramblers, Vols Take Victories

A 13-hit attack and J. W. Mercer's pitching powered Ruston to an 11-2 rout of Dubach and Wayne Hendricks' three-hitter gave West Monroe an 8-2 triumph over Bastrop in the La-Ark League last night.

Mercer, provided with a fat cushion since the early innings, gave way to Manager Billy Henderson in the eighth inning but by that time Ruston was far in front.

Charles Fuller and George Garrett were the most productive Rambler hitters. Fuller slammed a three - run home run in the 8th inning to close out the scoring and got two hits in three earlier trips. Garrett had a perfect night, 4-4.

Making his first start of the season, Hendricks struck out seven and walked only two in hurling West Monroe's Vols past last-place Bastrop. The big fireballer's arm went sore during the playoffs last season and only recently recovered sufficiently to allow him to pitch.

West Monroe put the game on ice with seven runs in the first two innings, three in the initial frame off starter Tommy Rogers and four more in the second off Jerry Moore. The Vols picked up another tally in the fourth.

New recruit Sammy Weems, a Delta League veteran, blasted a two - run homer his first time up and a double later in pacing the victors at the plate. Center fielder Robert Harris also collected two hits.

Second - place Monroe will take on fourth - place Sterlington at Farmerville in today's only game. A full three-game slate is on tap for Sunday.

Braves Snap Back, Defeat Bruins, 10-2

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves went on their biggest scoring rampage since mid-June Friday night by snapping a four-game losing streak with a thumping 10-2 victory of the lowly Chicago Cubs.

Backed by a lusty 15-hit attack, right-hander Lew Burdette coasted to his 12th triumph as the Braves regained second place from St. Louis, which was blanked 3-0 by Cincinnati.

The Braves clobbered four Chicago pitchers in celebrating their return home after a long road trip in which they dropped seven of their last eight outings.

Every Milwaukee starter, with the exception of Eddie Mathews, hit safely at least once. The offensive parade was led by Del Crandall and rookie Al Spangler with three hits apiece and Red Schoendinest, Billy Bruton and Burdette with two each. One of Burdettes' hits was a homer.

Hank Aaron had only one hit but it was a towering drive for his 30th homer in the eighth inning. Hammerin' Hank now is tied with Chicago's Ernie Banks for the National League lead in the circuit-clout derby.

Burdette, who has lost six, allowed only seven hits, surrendering single runs in the first and sixth innings.

The Braves, who had not scored 10 runs in a game since June 16, put together five hits for four runs in the first inning against starter Don Cardwell (5-11). They added a single run in the second, another in the fourth on a homer by Burdette, and three in the sixth.

Bayles Takes Two Events At Speedbowl

Bayles tok the trophy dash in the stock division in No. 17, a new car to Monroe, after a serious crackup involving the front - runing car driven by Floyd Cook and T. H. McDougal's No. 9. After some quick repairs, No. 9, came back to run in the feature race but Cook's car sat out the rest of the card.

Bayles again trailed in the modified heat race before spin outs by Royce Whitlock and Jack Bowen of Sterlington gave him a clear field. Joe Mallard was a close second to Bayles.

Whitlock came back to win the feature event with Bayles and Mallard trailing. Pete McClain was fourth.

Jim Brewer Surprised At Suspension

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cub rookie pitcher Jim Brewer said Friday he didn't expect Cincinnati's Billy Martin to be severely punished for slugging him in Thursday's Cub-Cincinnati game.

Told by The Associated Press that National League President Warren Giles fined Martin $500 and suspended him for five days, Brewer said from a hospital room:

"I expected Martin to be fined, but not suspended."

Brewer will undergo surgery Saturday to correct a caved-in cheek bone below his right eye as a result of a hard punch by Martin, who stalked to the mound to deliver it.

"In a way I did expect something would be done to Martin and, in a way, I didn't" said the 22-year-old rookie hurler. "I didn't know whether they thought the whole trouble came from him or whether both of us were involved. I never had anything like that happen to me before."

Reminded that 30 years ago Yankee catcher Bill Dickey was fined $1,000 and suspended 30 days for breaking Carl Reynolds' jaw with a punch, Brewer said:

"Well, maybe they were a little more strict then than they are now."

Brewer denied that there was any name-calling between Martin and himself when Martin ostensibly came near the mound to retrieve the bat he had flung.

"Maybe after he hit me, I said a few words," said Brewer. "But before that, he said he was just going to get his bat. I started back to the mound, and, wham he hit me. I didn't even see the punch coming."

Brewer declined comment on what his attitude would be if he pitched to Martin again. "All I can say is that the game we are playing is baseball," he said.

Yankees Increase Lead

Kansas City Defeated In 4-3 Contest

KANSAS CITY (AP)—New York scrambled to a 4-3 victory over Kansas City Friday night as Manager Casey Stengel used three pitchers in the ninth inning to choke off an Athletics rally and boost the Yankees' American League lead to 2½ games.

Roger Maris had parked a two-run homer in the third inning to run his league-leading total to 33 and the Yanks were sailing along on a 4-1 lead when the A's came to bat in the last of the ninth.

Luis Arroyo, the reclaimed southpaw screwball ace who had choked off a sixth inning rally by the A's, was on the mound and had pitched hitless ball.

Arroyo walked Ken Hamlin to start it and Bill Tuttle doubled to left. When Pete Daley scored Hamlin with a single, Stengel called in fireballer Bob Turley to pitch. He got Russ Snyder on a fly with Tuttle scoring after the catch.

When Turley wild pitched Daley to second and walked Hank Bauer after getting Jerry Lumpe on a fly to center, Stengel called for Bobby Shantz to pitch to Norm Siebern. The little left-hander got the left-handed slugger to fly out to Maris in right field.

The Yanks had scored what had turned out to be the winning run in the seventh. Gil McDougald singled and was forced by Tony Kubek. After Bob Cerv popped out, Kubek went to third on a passed ball and scored on a wild pitch.

Art Ditmar (10-7) was the starting New York hurler and got credit for the victory although he departed in favor of Arroyo with two on and no one out in the sixth inning.

The right-hander was struck in the forehead by a line drive off the bat of Lumpe in the third and the ball caromed into left field for a single. It appeared Ditmar might be seriously hurt as he fell to the ground but he recovered after a few moments and resumed pitching.

It seemed Maris and Ditmar had the game well in hand until the sixth when the pitcher walked Siebern and gave up a single to Dick Williams with no one out.

The A's had scored a run off Ditmar in the fifth and Stengel apparently thought Ditmar had weakened.

He called in Arroyo who, after walking Marv Throneberry to load the bases, got out of the inning without yielding a run.

Marlene Even With Wiffi At Waterloo

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., moved into a tie with Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., at the halfway mark in the Waterloo Women's Open Golf Tournament Friday.

Marlene fired an even par 27 to go with the 68 she shot in the first round for 140.

Wiffi had putting trouble and slipped to a 74 after her career best of 66 Thursday.

Murle MacKenzie of Webster, N. Y., scored a 71 to add to the 70 she shot in the first round to hold third with 141.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., shot a 68—the best score of the day and her best in 1960—to couple with the 74 she fired in the first round and jumped to fourth with 142.

The Sunnyside Country Club course—soaked by rain as play began—continued to baffle Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., the defending champion. She shot a 74 to go with the 73 she had in the first round for 147, and was tied for 12th.

The entire field of 42 will continue throughout the 72-hole tournament.

Freak Play Enables Pirates To Squeeze Past Giants, 1-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A freak scoring play in the eighth inning gave league-leading Pittsburgh a 1-0 victory over San Francisco Friday night and broke up a pitching duel between the Pirates' Vinegar Bend Mizell and the Giants' Sam Jones.

Bill Virdon led off the eighth for Pittsburgh by walking. Dick Groat bunted toward the mound. Jones fielded it, but threw the ball over Don Blasingame's head at first. Groat and Blasingame then collided at first, and Virdon came all the way home.

Mizell gave up only five hits in gaining his eighth victory with his second consecutive shutout. He has lost five. It was the third time Mizell had beaten the Giants since he came to the Pirates from St. Louis in a trade earlier this season.

Jones allowed six hits, all singles, walked three and struck out eight. He is 13-11 for the year.

The contest was the first of a four-game series with the fifth-place Giants, now eight games off the pace.

Virdon threw out the Giants' Andre Rodgers on an unusual play in the eighth. Rodgers doubled off the left center field wall, and Virdon leaped high, trapping the ball. He then whipped the ball to third and nailed Rodgers who was trying to stretch the hit into a triple.

Pirate outfielder Roberto Clemente suffered a deep chin cut in the seventh inning when he crashed into the concrete wall along the right field stands while making a one-hand catch of Willie Mays' liner.

Clemente walked off the field. A team spokesman said five stitches would be needed to close the cut and that Clemente would be sent to a hospital for Xrays.

Skidding Chisox Fall To Senators

CHICAGO (AP) — With their league-leading batter, Al Smith, twice hitting into doubleplays with men on base, the Chicago White Sox nose-dived to their fifth straight loss Friday—a 6-1 defeat by the Washington Senators.

In the throes of their longest losing streak of the season, the erstwhile pacesetters saw their sophomore sensation of 1959, pitcher Bob Shaw, melt in the first inning as the fifth-place Senators pounced on him for four runs.

Provided this cushion, Pedro Ramos methodically stifled the Sox on four hits in beating them for the second time in five attempts and running his over-all record to 7-12.

The Sox's only run came in the sixth when Nellie Fox tripled, for his team's only extra base hit, and was singled across by Minnie Minoso.

Roy Sievers, another gun in the Sox attack, struck out his first three times up and flied out his fourth.

Shaw, entering the game with a 10-8 record and three successive victories, got the first two men in the first inning. He then walked Harmon Killebrew and Jim Lemon before Faye Throneberry, Bill Gardner and Earl Battey singled in succession while Jim Landis was guilty of an error in center field—and the Senators were off and running 4-0.

The Nats added a run in the fifth on singles by Lenny Green and Killebrew and another in the seventh when Green walked, stole second and came home on Lemon's single.

Attendance was 30,112, boosting the season mark to 1,009,444.

Aquatic Records Handed Beating

By MURRAY ROSE

DETROIT (AP) — Powerful freestyler Chris Von Saltza and backstroker Lynn Burke of New York broke world records in a smashing climax to the U. S. Olympic Swimming and Diving Trials Friday night.

Miss Von Saltza, of Saratoga, Calif., smashed all listed and pending records with a time of 4 minutes, 44.5 seconds for 400 meters in completing a double-slam in the trials.

Miss Burke, a look-a-like for Chris, was timed in 1:09.2 for the 100-meter backstroke final eclipsing the mark of 1:10 flat she established Thursday.

Nina Harmar, 14, of the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia, won the second Olympic berth in the backstroke with a time of 1:11.8.

Carin Cone of Ridgewood, N. J., a silver medalist in the 1956 Olympics and the record-holder until Thursday was third in 1:13.2 and failed to make the team.

Miss Con Saltza, a tall 16-year-old blonde, shttered the time of 4:47.2 set by the International Swimming Federation as a world record when all marks were standardized for 0-meter and 55-yard pool, and the pending standdard of 4:45.4 racked up by Ilsa Konrads of Australia last Jan. 9 in Sydney.

Second place in the 400 was taken by Carolyn House, a slight, 14-year-old 10th grader from Los Angeles in 4:55.1. Chris led all the way and finished about 20 yards in front.

It was the fourth world record chalked up in the Olympic trials in the 50-meter Brennan Pools and established the statuesque California schoolgirl as one to beat in the Olympic Games starting in Rome Aug. 25.

Chris thus completed a double-slam along with diver Paula Myers Pope and freestyler Alan Somers in the final day of the trials to determine the makeup of the U. S. team.

Miss Von Saltza won the 100-meter freestyle Wednesday night after setting an American record of 1:01.3 in a qualifying heat on Tuesday.

The other world records were set Thursday. Mike Troy of Indianapolis bettered his own world standard in the 200-meter butterfly with a time of 2:13.2 in the final of that event. Lynn Burke, a 17-year-old New Yorker, beat the world mark in the 100-meter backstroke heats with a time of 1:10 flat.

The world record time of 4:47.2 was established as a mark to beat by the International Swim Federation when it decreed that all world marks had to be made in a 50-meter or 55-yard pool. Chris had beaten that mark herself with an American record of 4:46.9 in the National AAU championships at Indianapolis Ind. July 17.

Somers nosed out Olympian George Breen in the 1,500-meter freestyle final as both made the Olympic team in the event.

The record-breaking by the girls with the Olympic Games only 20 days off, overshadowed a series of other dramatic events on the final day of the thrilling trials.

Jeff Farrell, the former Navy officer who underwent an emergency appendecomy only nine days ago, finished fourth in 2:04.6 in the 200-meter freestyle and earned one of the six places on the 800-meter freestyle relay team. The 23-year-old American champion from Wichita, Kan., had failed by a whisker to qualify in the 100-meter freestyle, his specialty.

Hot Cardinals Dealing In Superlatives

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are dealing in superlatives these days and who can blame them?

Stan Musial, for example, believes the rollicking Red Birds have a good chance for the National League pennant "if our pitching can hold up."

Manager Solly Hemus stands on his springtime declaration that his club has as good a chance as any for the flag.

At the time Solly made his opinion known he sounded like a voice crying from the wilderness, but now . . . well, folks are listening.

They have to.

The Cards carried a seven-game victory string into Friday night's game with the Cincinnati Reds. They were in second place, 12 games above .500, and only 3½ behind the league-leading Pirates.

Getting back to Musial, elder statesman of the young and eager Red Birds, he tabs this club as "better all-round" than the 1957 aggregation which threw a scare into Milwaukee before the Braves nailed down the pennant.

"We've got more speed and power this year," said The Man, currently hitting .281, "and the pitching is deeper."

Six Detroit pitchers played for other major league teams.

MORE MAIL

Last week we had a couple of letters on kids' baseball. This week we have another, this one a defense of Little Boys Baseball in general and the West Monroe Southside team in particular.

309 Mill Street
West Monroe

Dear Mr. Anderson,

This letter is in reply to a letter which appeared in your column last Saturday written by Mr. W. D. Perkins of Winnsboro. Mr. Perkins, among other things, called the West Monroe Little Boys Southside All-Stars and West Monroe fans poor sports. I would like to reply to his charges.

I am not writing this letter for the benefit of all the loyal fans and workers in organized sports programs for they understand that there are a few overly-critical people who try to find only wrong in these programs. However, for the many people who have no connection with these programs, Mr. Perkins' letter could discourage their future participation. Invite these people to participate in these programs and judge the results for themselves. Please don't let the criticisms of a few people discourage you.

As for Mr. Perkins' statements in his letter, he is entitled to his opinions but I believe some of his charges are unjustified.

Mr. Perkins says I led the fans in cheers. I have never been a cheerleader, either at Winnsboro or anywhere else, and have never considered it one of my duties as manager. I do believe that it is my duty as manager to see that my boys get a fair deal and I do not believe it unsportsmanlike to take up for my players whenever the situation demands it. If the manager does not take up for his players, how can he expect them to give their best for him?

The people of West Monroe proved they were good sports by the wonderful way they treated the Winnnsboro team and fans in West Monroe after the Winnsboro victories. Many of our fans congratulated the Winnsboro players and managers after they defeated West Monroe. An official of the Winnsboro league told me that they had never been treated any better anywhere.

It is easy to be a good winner but it is sometimes hard to be a good loser. I'm glad the West Monroe fans proved they would be good losers.

We've had a wonderful year in West Monroe with our Little Boys Baseball program. We are making plans for expansion and a new ball park. Any help financially or otherwise, will be truly appreciated.

We realize the faults in our program and we are continually striving to eliminate them. No program is perfect but we believe the good points of our program have proven to far outweigh its faults. Any support we receive from our fans helps us to make our program even better.

Thank you for this opportunity to tell our side of the story.

SPORTS WRITERS MEET

The Louisiana Sports Writers Association enjoyed an excellent meeting in Morgan City last week with that city's Chamber of Commerce and Morgan City Review Sports Editor Mac Russo as hosts.

To Mr. Russo and his fellow townsmen, we tip our hat. Their hospitality left nothing to be desired.

The scribes held bowling and golf tournaments, both of which indicated that some of us had better stick to writing. Bill Carter of the Alexandria Town Talk won the golf tourney with a two-over - par 72. Cotton McCoy of the Shreveport Journal won the scratch bowling trophy, "nosing out" this writer by 84 pins, 584 to 500. Bill Chamberlain of the Opelousas World won the handicap trophy.

While not enjoying shrimp and other goodies, the assembled scribes got some work done, electing Bill Baker of the Shreveport Times president and making some ambitious plans.

A tour of the Gulf States Conference football camps in September is in the works if enough papers and schools go along. Also in the works is an annual association writing contest with awards to be presented for best column, feature story, etc.

The newly - formed North Louisiana chapter will undertake a press box rating program. There are a couple of local press boxes that will probably go to the bottom of the list.

JUNIOR BOWLING

Purkey Hurls Redlegs Over Cardinals, 3-0

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bob Purkey pitched a four-hitter for eight innings and sat out the ninth while Marshall Bridges preserved a 3-0 Cincinnati victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Purkey, who picked up his 11th victory to go with seven defeats, snapped a seven-game Cardinal winning streak.

He was particularly effective in the clutches. All the hits the Cards got off him were inning-openers and in each instance Purkey retired the next three batters in order.

Purkey went out for a pinch batter in the ninth when the Reds scored their final run off Bob Grim, who relieved Curt Simmons in the ninth.

Ed Bailey, singled, moved up on Jerry Lynch's pinch double and came home on Eddie Kasko's sacrifice fly.

Bosox Spoil Gordon Debut With Tigers

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP) — The Boston Red Sox messed up Joe Gordon's debut as Detroit Tiger manager Friday night with a four-run seventh inning outburst that produced a 4-2 victory.

Don Buddin's triple, followed by Mike Fornieles' spotless relief pitching marked the downfall of the Tigers.

A crowd of 32,040 turned out to welcome Gordon and watched Boston spot the Tigers a 2-0 lead. Frank Lary was sailing along with a three-hit shutout when he was routed in the seventh.

The Tigers scored in the second on three singles, Coot Veal driving in the run with a soft liner to left. Norm Cash's 11th homer in the fifth gave the Tigers their other run.

Fornieles nailed the victory for starter Ike Delock by retiring nine straight Tigers over the last three innings. The victory was Delock's sixth against four defeats. Lary is 10-10.

Hop, Step, Jump Record Set By Polish Athlete

WARSAW (AP)—Jozef Schmidt of Poland Friday got off a hop, step, and jump of 55 feet 10½ inches which bettered the existing world record by more than a foot.

This is the ninth standard event in which a world record has been bettered this year as athletes tune up for the Olympic Games in Rome Aug 25

Schmidt, one of Poland's brightest hopes for a gold medal, made his great mark at the Polish Track and Field Championships which started Friday at Olsztyn. As conditions were standard, there was every expectation it would be accepted as a record.

The record now on the books is 54 feet, 9¼ inches by Oleg Fedoseyev of Russia.

FOR BREWER INCIDENT

Martin Assessed $500, Suspended

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League President Warren C. Giles Friday fined Cincinnati Reds' second baseman Billy Martin $500 and suspended him for five days as a result of his fight Thursday with Chicago Cubs' pitcher Jim Brewer.

Martin said Brewer was throwing at his head.

On Brewer's next pitch, Martin swung and his bat went flying toward the mount. As Martin went out to retrieve the bat, Brewer came walking to him. Suddenly Martin let fly with a right to the pitcher's face.

Other players wrestled the two to the ground. After returning to the dugout, Brewer got the handle of a broken bat and started toward Martin. Teammates halted him.

Martin was banished from the game and he later said:

"Brewer threw at my head and nobody is going to do that. I was in the hospital last year when I got hit in the face and had seven fractures.

"Nobody is going to throw at my head again. That first pitch by Brewer was behind my head and Cub pitchers knocked me down three times Wednesday."

Martin also said he did not throw the bat at Brewer, but that it slipped out of his hands.

He also claimed Brewer "mouthed-off at me" when he went out to get the bat.

Brewer claimed he only asked Martin if he wanted to fight.

The pitcher said Martin told him he merely had come after the bat "and before I (Brewer) knew what happened I was hit with a Sunday punch."

Brewer's injury was the most serious suffered in a player fight since Bill Dickey broke Carl Reynolds' jaw about 30 years ago. Dickey was fined $1,000 and suspended for 30 days.

The fiery Martin often has been angered in player fights.

While with the New York Yankees he twice was in fights with Clint Courtney, now a catcher with the Baltimore Orioles.

He has had run-ins with Jimmy Piersall and was in a White Sox-Yankee scuffle in 1957.

Since coming to the Reds during the off-season in a trade with the Cleveland Indians, he has had comparatively little trouble, although pitcher Gene Conley of the Philadelphia Phils and Martin tangled earlier in the season.

Giles' order directed that Martin pay the fine personally and that he not be reimbursed either directly or indirectly by the Reds.

Minor League

Monroe Fire Department walloped Monroe Glass, 10-2, in a Minor Baseball League game last night, but no Fireman batter could get more than one hit. Kemp of Monroe Glass was the game's leading hitter with 2 - for - 2.

Harmon and Hancock was the winning battery. Finkbeiner and Walker pitched for Monroe Glass with R. Duffey as their catcher.

Holmberg In Semifinals Of Net Tourney

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP)—Ron Holmberg and three Australians, led by top-seeded Rod Laver, Friday swept into the semifinals of the 72nd Southampton Invitation Tournament on the spike-torn turf of the Meadow Club.

Holmberg, the second - seeded slugger from Brooklyn, N. Y., routed Rudy Hernando, Detroit, Mich., 6-1, 6-2 to gain the semifinals against fourth-seeded Australian Bob Mark, who defeated Lew Gerrard of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-1.

Laver, the Wimbledon runner-up, eliminated Larry Nagler, the NCAA champion from North Hollywood, Calif., 6-3, 6-3, and will play third-seeded Australian Bob Hewit, who ousted Chris Crawford, Piedmont, Calif., 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

Hewitt was the only winner who did not wear spikes on the slippery grass courts that were soaked by a morning rain.

Holmberg, the fourth - ranked U. S. player who was snubbed for this weekend's Davis Cup match against Mexico, drilled his big serve and deft volleys past the crew-cut Hernando, the only inseeded player to gain the quarterfinals.

Laver played more impressively than he has all week in riddling Nagler. The red-haired Australian champion continually fired forehand passing shots at Nagler, who was wearing a pair of spikes borrowed from Mark.

Colts Produce Only One Score For 46,923 Fans

BALTIMORE (AP)—The National Football League champion Baltimore Colts entertained 46,923 fans Friday night in an annual public scrimmage but scoring only one touchdown.

The fans, who packed Memorial Stadium almost to capacity at $1 a head, had to wait until the fourth quarter for a score in the exhibition.

The touchdown was made by the first-string offensive unit led by quarterback Johnny Unitas after linebacker Marv Matuszak had recovered a fumble on the 10-yard line.

SIGNS PACT

Gordon To Pilot Tigers Through 1961 Campaign

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—Joe Gordon, who came to the Detroit Tigers Wednesday in an unprecedented managerial swap, signed a contract Friday to direct the Tigers through the 1961 campaign.

Gordon's signing about the same time that Jimmie Dykes, former manager of the Tigers, signed a contract at Cleveland to manage the Indians for the rest of this season.

There had been speculation whether Gordon would handle the Tigers only for the remaining few weeks of the 1960 campaign.

"Will you be with the Tigers in 1961"?

Tiger President Bill DeWitt, in whose office the news conference was held, interrupted:

"Let's settle that right now. We'll bring in the contract and you can watch the signing so you'll know Joe will be with us through 1961."

Both Gordon and DeWitt said the contract terms were the same as those in the two-year contract under which Gordon was operating when the Indians released him Wednesday at the same time the Tigers released Dykes, who was on a one-year contract.

Informed observers said Gordon was getting about $35,000 a year at Cleveland.

Asked if Gordon would be in line for a raise next year if the Tigers did well, DeWitt replied, "We'll talk about that when the time comes. . . ."

Gordon said he planned few changes in the Tiger lineup. He expressed belief the sixth-place Detroiters could climb into the first division before the end of the season.

"Our pitching is great and all we have to do is to figure out what to do about our hitting," he said.

Gordon said particular attention would be paid to outfielder Al Kaline who had a .230 batting average as the Tigers opened a series with the Red Sox Friday night.

Said Gordon:

"The last time I worked with Al was when he was breaking in as a rookie. He had a sweet, smooth swing and there wasn't much anybody could do to improve that kind of hitting. Now he is pressing, and he's worried, and we'll do all we can to get him hitting again."

Queried about Rocky Colavito whom Cleveland sent to Detroit in a surprise trade for Harvey Kuenn just before the start of the season, Gordon said:

"He and I always got along well together. He's hitting at a good clip and August and September always have been his big months."

MRS. JOE GORDON adjusts her husband's tie at their Detroit hotel after Gordon arrived to direct the fortunes of the Tigers. Gordon replaces Jimmy Dykes as the Tigers pilot while Dykes goes to Cleveland to take over Joe's old job as manager of the Indians. (AP Wirephoto)

NOT JUST NEW YORK

Topping Says Los Angeles Must Have New Club Also

NEW YORK (AP) — Dan Topping of the New York Yankees issued an ultimatum Friday to major league baseball:

"New York is the crux of the National League expansion plan, and Los Angeles emphatically must figure in the coast to coast realignment on our side."

Topping, co-owner of the Yankees, declared furthermore that other clubs in the American League besides the Yankees would block expansion of the circuit unless Los Angeles is included.

The major leagues at a meeting in Chicago Tuesday agreed to expand to ten teams in 1962, or 1961 if possible. New York will get a National League team according to speculation. Los Angeles, which already has the onetime Brooklyn Dodgers, did not figure in the program, which called for taking over four existing Continental League franchises in the near future and four in the indefinite future.

The CL has franchises in New York, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Houston, Fort Worth-Dallas, Atlanta, Denver, Toronto and Buffalo.

"The Yankees are willing to make a deal with the backers of the new club to be placed in New York for joint occupancy of our stadium," said Topping.

"For the City of New York to approve a bond issue for construction of an arena on Flushing Meadows and for the owners of the new club to assume the tremendous financial burden which that stadium would entail looks foolhardy to me."

Topping said he and Del Webb, also a Yankee owner, would be willing to talk lease terms for Yankee Stadium but would oppose temporary occupancy pending the building of the municipal stadium.

Topping expounded his views on bringing Los Angeles into the American League in an interview in the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, has indicated that under proper conditions he would not oppose an American League club in Los Angeles.

"On the surface," said Topping in referring to the Chicago meetings, "It would appear that O'Malley is eager to keep Los Angeles exclusively a National League city. If this is tried, I will holler plenty and I won't stop."

In Los Angeles, Dodger President Walter O'Malley expressed surprise but refused to say more than this:

"The quote from Dan Topping surprises me. We will, of course, have no comment to make on it."

Card Hurlers Getting Extra Batting Time

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals seem to have come up with a not-so-secret weapon: additional batting practice for the starting pitchers.

Manager Solly Hemus refused to crow about the plan, but so far it's worked great.

Hemus' pitchers have delivered 10 hits in 21 at-bats in the Cards' last seven games, all victories. That averages a sensational .476.

The plan, proposed by right-hander Larry Jackson, calls for a 20-minute session in the batting cage for the starting pitchers before each home game. That adds up to about 20 swings apiece for four pitchers, Jackson, Ernie Broglio, Ray Sadecki and Curt Simmons. Bob Gibson gets extra whacks, too.

Knight Captures Insurance Lead

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)-Dick Knight, who shared the opening round lead in the 1959 National Open, Friday set the pace at the halfway mark in the 72-hole Insurance City Open Golf Tournament. His 36-hole total was a 9-under-par 133, after rounds of 66-67.

Trailing Bob Rosburg by one stroke Thursday, Knight found the wet fairways and greens to his liking Friday as he toured the tight Wethersfield Country Club course in 4-under. He collected four birdies in a sizzling display of shots.

One stroke behind the 30-year-old, 5-10, 160-pound tourist from Apple Valley, Calif., were Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., and Jack Fleck of Los Angeles. And not too far away were Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif., Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., and Bill Collins of Crystal River, Fla., at 135.

Knight, and most of the big-name pros, managed to escape the heavy rain that fell during the morning, flooded the fourth hole on this par 35-36—71, 6,548-yard layout, and forced suspension of play for more than 30 minutes.

Rosburg slipped from his 65 to a 74 for a 139 total. He did not like the moist course. Others who felt the same way were Gene Littler, last year's winner, 139- Arnold Palmer, the National Open champion, 138; and Jay Hebert, the PGA titleholder, 142.

Knight has won $4,436 in 26 PGA tournaments, plus pro-amateurs. He started with a birdie Friday sinking a 9-foot putt. He played regulation after that until the 12th when he canned a 12-footer for another birdie.

He also shot birdies on the 15th with a 6-footer and the 17th with a 5-footer. Knight missed the fairways only twice.

"I'm driving and putting okay, and hope it'll continue," Knight said.

CHALMERS DIES

NEW YORK (AP) — George W. (Dut) Chalmers, right-handed pitcher for the Philadelphia Phillies from 1910 through 1917, died early Friday. He was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, on June 7, 1888. Chalmers, who pitched in the 1915 world series, suffered a stroke six weeks ago and a second one Thursday night.

Indians Work Bunt To Beat Orioles, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Johnny Temple squeezed home the winning run with a neat bunt in the seventh inning Friday night as Cleveland edged Baltimore 4-3 and presented Jimmie Dykes with a victory in his managerial debut with the Indians.

The score was tied 3-3 when Rod Wilson opened the winning rally with a double to left. Pitcher Jim Perry sacrificed on a bunt to third as Wilson moved up a base.

Then as Wilson raced for the plate, Temple bunted midway toward the mound and pitcher Chuck Estrada only had a play at first base.

Perry (13-5), who won it, became the winningest pitcher in the league with Johnny Klippstein's relief help in the final inning. Estrada (11-6) pitched seven innings, with Wes Stock hurling the eighth.

Baltimore scored first in the second inning on Gus Triandos' fifth homer. Cleveland evened it in its half of the second by scoring an unearned run.

Vic Power singled to center and Jimmy Piersall followed with a single off first baseman Jim Gentile's glove. Estrada grabbed Mike de la Hoz' bouncer and fired to third for a force play. But Brooks Robinson's relay to first in an attempt to complete a doubleplay was wild and Piersall went to third. He scored on Wilson's sacrifice fly.

The Indians took a 3-1 lead in the third inning on a walk to Ken Aspromonte and a Harvey Kuenn home run. It was his eighth

The Orioles tied the count in the fifth. Gene Stephens beat out a bunt single and went to third on Gene Woodling's double to left. A groundout by Gentile and Robinson's single brought the runs across.

A crowd of 24,275 watched the Indians put two victories back-to-back for the first time since July 15. They had lost 18 of the previous 26.

The Orioles, on the other hand, saw their five-game winning string snaped. Baltimore, still three games ahead of the Indians in third place, had won nine of its last 12.

TAPP WINS

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Johnny Tapp, Australia's welterweight boxing champion, outpointed Charlie Douglas of San Francisco, in a rugged 10-round bout Friday night. Tapp weighed 147 pounds, the American Negro 142½.

San Francisco Giant Coach Wes Westrum had a .217 batting average for 919 major league games.

Local Dixie Team Plays Here At 7:30

Fresh from winning the subdistrict championship at Delhi, the Monroe Dixie League All-Stars take on Richland Parish in an exhibition game tonight at 7:30 in Legion Stadium.

Tonight's game will serve as a warmup for Monroe's action in the state Dixie League tournament Tuesday. Always a strong team, Richland Parish will show local fans how well 13 and 14-year-olds can play baseball.

The infield will have Darryl Barnes at first, Ricky Hyland at second, Charley Van Zile at short and Don Saget at third. John Sechler in left, Tommy Sparks in center and John Loftin in right will make up the outfield.

Manager Lanis Pettit has as replacements Ronnie Clark, both a capable infielder and outfielder, Ronnie Factor, who threw a two-hitter in the Delhi tourney, and Gene Galligan, a fine outfielder.

Furillo Returns To Dodger Duty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carl Furillo, bitter two months ago when released by the Los Angeles Dodgers, is returning to the organization to coach youngsters.

The Dodgers announced Friday the rifle-armed outfielder would go to Dodgertown at Vero Beach, Fla., next week to become a member of the staff at the Dodgers' summer camp for boys.

OF INDIANS

Confident Dykes Takes Command

CLEVELAND (AP)—A relaxed and confident Jimmie Dykes took the helm of the slumping Cleveland Indians Friday, declaring the only problem he could see was "winning games."

After signing to manage the Indians for the remaining weeks of the season, the 63-year-old Dykes told newsmen Cleveland looks like a good team. But he noted he doesn't "know anything about the club yet."

Earlier, Dykes ran into Piersall in the Indians' office. He pumped the excitable Piersall's hand, slapped him on the back, and both said they were glad to see each other.

Dykes, who comes here from Detroit in the "trade" of managers that sent Joe Gordon to manage the Tigers, almost upset the deal by declaring he was not coming to Cleveland unless he got the same contract Gordon had. That contract ran through the 1961 season.

But Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane insisted he had never mentioned 1961 in his talks with Dykes, and the former Detroit field general signed only for the remainder of this season. However, he gets a raise of about $2,000 to match the amount the Indians were paying Gordon.

Dykes indicated he will go along with the lineup that won 7-4 against Washington Wednesday night under Coach Jo Jo White. No use changing a winning combination, Dykes said.

Remarking that he hasn't seen the Indians play since June, Dykes said he would "have to feel my way along for awhile."

Vote Margin By Kefauver Tops 210,000

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A relaxed Sen. Estes Kefauver saw his renomination margin grow Friday to more than 210,000 votes over Judge Andrew T. Taylor of Jackson.

Nearly complete tabulations from Thursday's Democratic primary gave Kefauver 451,553 votes and Taylor 240,609. Approximately 125 other scattered precincts will not be tabulated until the official canvass next Monday.

'Brainwashing' Of Pilot Feared

BONN, Germany (AP) — A West German government publication said Friday that Francis Gary Powers, the American pilot captured in the U2 spy plane incident, may have been subjected to Soviet brainwashing.

The suggestion was set forth in the Government Bulletin. It went into a long historical account of the technique of brainwashing, which derives from the conditioned reflex experiments by the Russian scientist, Ivan Pavlov.

The bulletin offered no direct evidence to back up its suggestion, but said it based its theory "partly on official Kremlin announcements on Powers' self-accusations and confessions, partly on his available letters."

He Specializes In Plans For Honeymooners

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Honeymoon suites most likely to please contemporary couples come complete with Roman baths and other things not likely to be found at home.

Steve Morris, a cupid's helper who's been planning honeymoons for a decade, said in an interview that he can't recall a year when the brides-to-be expressed such an interest in Roman baths.

The average honeymoon costs $250 for transportation, accommodations, food and the services of a recreation director, as Morris figures it. But he's arranged many for $150 and a few for $6,000. The higher figure buys a five-week trip around the world.

Morris said the honeymoon planning trip to his office usually is a his 'n' her affair — with the bride-to-be doing most of the talking.

"We try to deliver what the girl wants within his budget and make it seem that it is strictly 'his' decision," Morris said.

"On one occasion it took more than the diplomatic touch to please. The bride's mother came along to help plan the trip. While she was at it, she completed arrangements for her vacation at the same hotel — but starting two days after the honeymooning couple's arrival there."

Morris said he goes out of his way to fill seemingly odd requests. He recalled the time a bridegroom insisted that he reserve the entire first class section of a plane to Bermuda. He did. The bill for the 24 seats came to $1,400.

Another time he scoured the South Seas in search of an island completely cut off from civilization and renting for $500 a week. He found one.

Mostly newlyweds pay for their honeymoon expenses in advance. "It's when the fellow wants more than the fellow can afford that they turn to credit," Morris said.

Morris said his center gives each bride-to-be a fancy garter. The bridegroom-to-be gets a bottle of sun-tan lotion. If a cruise is ordered, free sea-sickness pills are passed out.

Country Club Luncheon Honors Miss Sue Stubbs

Miss Sue Stubbs, whose marriage to Haydn Cutler Jr. will be solemnized September 1 in Grace Episcopal Church, was feted yesterday with a luncheon hosted by Mrs. Malcolm Biedenharn and her daughters, Mrs. C. D. Oakley Jr. and Mrs. Miles H. Sager Jr. Miss Stubbs is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William King Stubbs and Mr. Cutler is the son of Mrs. Haydn Cutler and the late Dr. Cutler.

White gladioli, tiny white chrysanthemums and greenery in a crystal bowl centered the green-covered luncheon table in the private dining room of the Bayou DeSiard Country Club, where the event was held. Flanking the arrangement were white tapers in silver candelabra. Each guest's place was marked by a white card decorated with a small white chrysanthemum.

Invited for luncheon at 12:30 o'clock were Mrs. Stubbs, Mrs. Cutler, Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Mrs. Henry Biedenharn Jr., Miss Emmy Lou Biedenharn, Jr., Mrs. Bernard Biedenharn, Miss Diana Cutler, Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. John Theus, Mrs. Kent Breard, Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. Milton Pickett, Mrs. Wesley Shafto, Mrs. C. D. Oakley and Miss Cynthia Dawkins of Shreveport.

Hair Ornaments Doing Booming Business Now

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Few men know women's hair styles as Fred Behr does. Now head of the hair ornaments division of a jewelry company, Mr. Behr formerly headed his own firm for many years.

"I've made and sold hair ornaments for forty - three years," said Mr. Behr. "Every change of hair style means more or less business for ornaments."

Mr. Behr remembers back to 1917 when long hair was still universally worn. Chignon pins and Spanish combs were tops.

Luncheon, Shower Given To Honor Miss Rogers

Continuing festivities for bride-elect Miss Glenda Sue Rogers, a luncheon was held yesterday in the Flamingo Room of the Hollywood Restaurant by Mrs. F. Truman Peters and her daughter, Mrs. Ronald Squyres. Large purple asters and deep purple foliage in a white milkglass bowl centered the white-covered luncheon table. At each guest's place was a card decorated with a miniature bride and groom.

For the occasion, the honoree was attired in a full - skirted aqua dress fashioned with white embroidery trim. Her white cymbidium orchid corsage was a gift of her hostesses. Mrs. Peters was attired in a blue linen sheath and Mrs. Squyres chose a white eyelet sheath.

The hostesses chose this occasion to present the honoree with a set of crystal.

Invited for luncheon at 2 p.m. were Mrs. R. W. Rogers, Miss Linda Rogers, Miss Katie Young, Miss Ann Walker, Miss Patsy Cooper, Miss Carol Nichols, Miss Lynda Hendricks, Mrs. Malcolm Keith Jr., Mrs. A. C. Liles Jr. of Gilbert, Mrs. Doug Turner, Mrs. Terry Reeves, Mrs. P. A. Poag of New Orleans, Mrs. W. A. Cotton and Mrs. Curtis Nichols.

SHOWER

The Q. T. Cooper home on K Street was the setting Thursday evening when Mrs. Cooper and her daughter, Miss Patsy Cooper, entertained with a miscellaneous shower complimentary to Miss Rogers.

An autumn arrangement of orange, yellow, bronze and dark brown flowers and foliage was placed on the piano in the living room, where the party was held. Tiny yellow and white bachelor's buttons filled a footed gold and yellow glass bowl on the coffee table.

Yellow roses in a white milkglass container centered the refreshment table in the dining area. Nearby were two yellow figurines, depicting a miniature boy and girl. Mrs. Joe Haddad assisted the hostesses in serving a salad plate to those present.

Guests were invited to play a game in which they made bride dolls from crepe paper and clothespins. During the party hours, the honoree was presented with a tea apron, on which those present wrote their names. The guest of honor also received a yellow and blue basket of gifts and a white carnation corsage, which was centered with a pearl heart. Her mother, Mrs. R. W. Rogers, was also presented with a white carnation corsage by the hostesses.

Included in the guest list were Miss Evelyn Amman, Miss Betsy Blackmon, Miss Ruth Ann Boggs, Miss Sandra Jo Doernberg, Miss Sandra Burford, Miss Landrea Ducote, Miss Bunny Girault, Miss Betty Rose Haddad, Miss Mildred Levi, Miss Susan Stewart, Miss Connie Wheeler, Miss Katie Young, Miss Betty Hemphill, Miss Suzanne Smith, Miss Gay Demmary, Miss Dottie Vigg, Miss Glenda Sue Young, Miss Lynda Sue Hendricks, Mrs. Terry Reeves, Miss Linda Rogers, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Haddad.

F. Fowler. Miss Lavendar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Lavendar of West Monroe and Mr. Ford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albert Ford, also of West Monroe.

Hostesses with Mrs. Fowler were Mrs. Bernon Butler and Mrs. Monroe Parker.

Pink and white predominated the decorations for the party and were carried out in the refreshment table, which was covered with a pink lace cloth and centered with a bridal bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums. Flanking the centerpiece were white tapers in pink marble glass holders. Pink punch was served from a crystal bowl at one end of the table by Mrs. Butler.

BARBECUE

A new appliance for the barbecue set operates on electricity instead of charcoal, is smokeless, but can be used either indoors or out. Made of chrome plated steel, it has an aluminum drip pan and removable rack. It weighs eight pounds, and operates on AC or DC current.

SALAD DRESSING

New onion salad dressing mix produces a mild, creamy dressing when blended with water, oil and vinegar. For flavor variations, substitute catsup or fruit juice for water.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Yankees Green Envying Her Southern Accent

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I'm a nice, decent girl 14-years of age. Last evening my girl friend and I were walking around town and a car drove up alongside us. It was a couple of fellows from school. We knew them slightly, but had never been out with them. Both boys are good-looking, popular and well thought of. Any girl would consider herself lucky to have a date with either of them.

We got into the car and rode around a while. Then we parked in an out-of-the way place and started to talk. My fellow, Barry, kissed me several times and I guess you might say we necked for about an hour and a half.

When Barry took me home he just let me out of the car. He didn't even walk me to the door. I feel cheap and now I'm afraid he doesn't respect me and that he'll never ask me for a real date. I could kick myself for the way I acted.

How can I get across to Barry that I'm really a nice girl? — HATE MYSELF

Dear Hate Yourself: The best way to be respected is to behave yourself. "Telling" a fellow you're decent and respectable won't do it—not when you permit yourself to be picked up and then wind up necking on a lonesome road.

This experience needn't be a total loss if you learn from it. You've probably muddied the waters for keeps with Barry, but you'll have other opportunities to behave like a lady. Just make sure you do.

Dear Ann: My wife's sister and her husband are both alcoholics. They live next door with their three children who are under eight years of age.

Every night they leave the kids alone while they go from one joint to another. The little ones often come to our house, tell us that daddy and mommy are gone and that they're hungry. We feed them and put them in our extra room for the night. Those kids have been left with measles and flu and if we didn't watch after them Lord knows what would happen.

We have three children of our own, but both my wife and I would be happy to take these kids if we could get legal custody. Please tell us how to go about it. —D.F.

Dear D.F.: The first step is to write a sworn statement against the parents listing the reasons you feel they are unfit parents. With this statement express desire for custody. Contact the juvenile authorities, present the statement and be prepared to stand by it in court, if necessary.

Perhaps if this pair loses the children it may shake them up enough so that they'll seek help for themselves.

Dear Ann Landers: What is there about a southern accent that simply slays the men? A woman moved up here from New Orleans and every guy in the office hangs around her desk because she "talks so darling."

We're getting fed up on her honey-dripping helplessness. Please suggest in your column that the southerners learn to speak English. They sound uneducated. —RED WHITE AND BLUE YANKEES

Dear Red White and Blue: You sound green to me—with envy, that is. Men (especially northern) love a southern accent because it's soft and feminine. Personally, I like it.

Dear Ann: What can be done about people who crane their necks and sit too close on trains and buses because they want to look at the paper you are reading? —SQUASHED

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for "Ann Landers" booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Her Neighbor Bullies, Borrows, Annoys Her

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Most every neighbor wants to be helpful and is eager to do her part when the occasion arises, but when her good nature is exploited, then resentment is sure to spring up.

"Annoyed" writes,

"Dear Mrs. Eldred:

"I wish my neighbor would read your column because she is one of those inconsiderate ones about whom you write, occasionally.

"She borrows constantly, day or night. Also, she is always asking to use my phone. I wouldn't mind so much if the calls were important, but twice this week she has sent over her teen-agers to call their friends.

"My son let her in the other day when I was cleaning and she told me, 'Put that down and make me a cup of coffee.' I told her I had things to do but she wouldn't leave until I did.

"Before she started on me, she imposed on another neighbor who, as a result, is not speaking to her. It has reached a point where I put out my lights and sit in the dark or go to bed to escape her. This is a very nice neighborhood and no one else is her type."

ANSWER

Of course, people borrow at times and a neighbor is glad to lend. But when borrowing is consistent it is because the housewife is a poor manager and always out of supplies, or she uses borrowing as an excuse to get into your home.

It is amazing she doesn't have a phone as obviously she needs one. You might discourage some of this tramping in if you put a small cup by the phone and a sign saying, "Five cents for telephone calls."

It is folly to submit to such brazen domination as her refusal to go home until you made her a cup of coffee. If you had said, "I'll be glad to serve you when I finish what I am doing, I'll call you then," you could at least have finished your work.

To sit in the dark or go to bed to avoid a neighbor is preposterous. Tell her you are not in the mood for company. Unless she is completely without sensitivity — she'll get the message. Nothing has ever been gained by a spineless aceptance of continued exploitation. It might as well end now as later.

If you would like our 10-cent booklet "Neighborhood Problems" send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Fall Fashion Buyer Takes Shrewd Gamble

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

The fall fashion market is open, and for these four weeks or so, life is one mad scramble from showroom to showroom, as designers and manufacturers unveil their fall collections.

From early morning to evening, fashion press people and buyers trot, hence the sore feet. And every showing offers sustaining food and drink, hence the bicarb.

Nobody's showroom is ever big enough, for overcrowding is a sign of success. If there were enough room, it would look as if no one was there! So the rickety little folding chairs get pushed into every nook and corner, and heaven help the latecomers!

Showings are hazards to one's own clothes. Balancing a plate and glass with one hand, while writing notes with the other is a fine art, but accidents will happen. We've sent two suits to the cleaners since we began the rounds.

But all the frenzy has a big purpose. Stores everywhere, including the one in which you shop, must choose now the clothes they think women will like and buy this fall.

It's the biggest and most fascinating gamble in the world, as buyers select from thousands of models those they believe will sell.

DEAR ABBY

A Girl In Love Has Filter-Tipped Brain

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My 19-year-old daughter is in love with a 22 year-old Marine. He didn't finish high school, has no ambition and will probably never amount to anything. He has had one marriage failure and has to support his ex-wife and two children.

He borrows money from my daughter, calls her collect to check up on her and accuses her of going out with other men. The worse he treats her, the more she defends him. Is there anything I can do to get it through her head that he is no good? — WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Don't count on getting anything "through her head". A girl in love has a filter-tipped brain. She'll have to discover for herself that this fellow is no good.

DEAR ABBY: I have my 87-year-old mother-in-law with me and I am at the end of my rope. She is the world's biggest trouble-maker. She tells my husband I like every man I talk to. First it was the janitor, then the insurance collector. Now she makes up stories about my having men callers.

My husband says not to pay any attention to her because she is getting a little crazy in the head. She is crazy like a fox. She hides things and says I stole them. —END OF ROPE

P. S. And another thing. My husbnad has "Six" healthy sisters, so will you please tell me why I have to be the one to put up with this? She has lived with me for 29 years!

DEAR END: If your husband pays no attention to her, why should you? She very probably is not responsible for her actions, so humor her as you would a sick child.

P. S. "You" have put up with her because obviously you are the best of the bunch.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is 12 years old. I have made up my mind what I want to be in life, but every time I mention it, people laugh at me. I want to be a policewoman.

My mother says I will change my mind, but I know I won't because I have wanted to be a policewoman ever since I can remember. Do you think it is a good choice? —FUTURE POLICEWOMAN

DEAR FUTURE POLICEWOMAN: It is a fine choice, if based on a thorough knowledge of the job and an earnest desire to pursue it. Perhaps your mother or father will take you to the local police station so you can meet a policewoman and learn first-hand what is involved in your chosen career.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STILL SAD": It is fine to honor the dead, but don't forget the living. Why don't you visit a veteran's hospital?

Rockefeller Lauds Republican Unity

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The platform fight at the Republican National Convention and the resulting unity dispeled the "pesimism" that gripped the GOP after the Democrats selected the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Friday.

Winding up a campaign-organizing tour in the state, Rockefeller said the election picture was "very encouraging."

"I don't know when I have seen as much unity in our party as I have in the last four days," the governor told a news conference.

As A Rule, Janice Likes Pale Look

By VIVIAN BROWN

"It's a good thing the pale look is popular," says the Titian-haired actress, "because I'd burn to a crisp if I got enough sun to color my skin in the popular tan of other seasons."

Janice has some advice for those of her ilk: Stay out of the sun as much as possible. When you are outdoors, shade yourself with an umbrella. Wear sunglasses. Put some kind of protective ointment on your body (she uses lanolin.) Wear a large hat to shield your face.

Janice doesn't mind a little sun on her hair if she's covered elsewhere. "The sun gives my hair wonderful highlights," she says. Even then, she takes it in easy doses.

She has an attractive shoulder length bob that she wears in loose rolls at the crown of her head.

"It's no trouble to arrange this hairdo, and it always looks neat and cool, even in summer. You take a large lock of hair and wind it around your fingers. When you get it into a curl about two inches long, fasten it on either end with a bobby pin."

She has few beauty problems, except for the suntan bugaboo. She doesn't gain weight, even when she goes on a pasta binge, but she watches her diet because she needs energy foods.

Green - eyed Janice has a big energy-demanding schedule. She has two girls, 3 years old and 11 months, and is married to writer Robert Thom. She's a Broadway and Hollywood actress, appears in big major dramatic shows on television. But she thrives on her housewife-career girl role she says, because she keeps fit.

ON ATTACK ANNIVERSARY

Hiroshima Holds Memorial Rites

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Saturday — (UPI) — This city Friday observed a non-political anniversary of the atomic horror which leveled the heart of the metropolis and killed 78,150 persons 15 years ago.

Citizens attended memorial services at the World Peace Park, usually the site of the World Conference Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs.

This year, Hiroshima rejected the conference which has been condemned as pro-Communist both by officials here and in Tokyo. Instead, the conference opened in Tokyo Friday with a series of Red attacks on "U.S. imperialism."

At the memorial services, scores of names of those who died this year from the effects of the American atomic bomb were enshrined in the park It is an annual event.

In addition to the wave of death spread on Aug. 6, 1945 when a B-29 bomber dropped its lethal load, a four-square-mile area of the once proud city was transtormed into rubble. Another 37,425 persons were injured and 13,083 were missing.

The property loss was placed at 6,820 buildings demolished and 3,750 damaged heavily. Only three of the city's 45 hospitals were left to care for the injured when the fireball finally burned out in the sky.

Some people predicted that the grass and trees would not grow again in the "atomic desert" which became Hiroshima. They were wrong.

Today, even beneath the bomb's ground zero at the industrial exhibition hall, grass and shrubbery has sprouted all around.

The United States is aiding the thousands of injured persons who still bear the scars of the bomb. At the Atomic Bomb Hospital here, they are examined by the Casualty Commission, an agency of the U. S. National Academy of Sciences that is supplied by funds of the Atomic Energy Commission.

BLOCKS PEACE MOVE

Katanga Is Richest Province In Congo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Katanga, richest prize among the six provinces of the Congo, is the largest remaining block to United Nations efforts to restore political and economic order to the former Belgian colony.

Under its pro-Belgian Premier Moise Tshombe and with aid and support from Brussels, Katanga announced it was seceding from the central government when anti-white riots followed Congolese independence June 30.

Cut off from sources of revenue provided by Katanga's great mineral and agricultural wealth, the Congo faces economic collapse. The province has a vast copper-mining industry and provides more than 60 per cent of the central government's income.

Tshombe is head of the Conakat party that controls the provincial government and is a foe of Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba. He declared as early as last February that he was dubious about the kind of treatment the province would get under the strong type of central government advocated by Lumumba. Tshombe has indicated he would listen to proposals for a looser federation in which the provinces would have a larger voice in government.

Tshombe's party was given only one minister in Lumumba's government but the provincial premier has other support at the capital.

Tshombe has said the province will resist to the last drop of blood, and has dispatched a delegation to plead his case in the West.

His intransigeance and the continued presence of Belgian troops in the province is causing mounting impatience among Congolese officials. The Congolese Cabinet, pointing to U.N. Security Council resolutions calling for the ouster of Belgian troops from the Congo has demanded the U.N. forces move into Katanga immediately.

State Files Appeal To High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state of Louisiana Friday appealed to the Supreme Court a lower court ruling that denied the state's right to compel the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to disclose the names or addresses of its members or contributors.

Louisiana appealed from a ruling by the U.S. District court of Louisiana. A three-judge court last February entered the judgment. On March 31, 1960, the same court denied a motion for a new trial.

The suit for appeal contends that the lower court erred:

In failing to recognize the sovereign right of the state to exercise its police power by requiring that certain organizations, doing business within the state, file membership lists.

In failing to recognize that the production of the membership and officers list was vital in order that the state perform its obligations to its citizens.

In holding that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People or its affiliates do not have to file with the state a list of officers of the parent organization, of its affiliate branches located within the state.

In denying to the state of Louisiana the right to protect itself against associations dominated and controlled by Communist or subversive leadership.

In permitting the action originally brought to the state court to be removed to federal court, despite the complete failure to comply with the removal statutes.

The appeal said that "in view of the serious constitutional or procedural errors made by the trial court. . ., it is seriously urged that the questions presented herein are substantial and of great importance not only to appellants but to each state in the union and the citizens thereof."

Sentence Collector

BERLIN (AP) — The prized possession of an East German—a collection of World War II souvenir guns—has cost him an 18-month prison sentence. A Communist Court acknowldeged the defendant was not an enemy of the state but decided the weapons could fall into the hands of anti-Communist plotters.

Bunche Prevents Clash In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI)—United Nations Assistant Secretary-General Dr. Ralph Bunche prevented what might have been the first clash between the U. N. and Katanga forces in a dramatic ground-to-air talk here Friday.

While Bunche was waiting at Elisabethville Airport to fly back to Leopoldville he learned that a U. N. plane was 40 minutes away from Elisabethville.

The assistant Secretary-General grabbed the ground-to-air microphone from a startled traffic controller who was talking to the plane and shouted: "This is Bunche here. I have to get back to Leopoldville to meet Hammarskjold. How many passengers have you?"

While Bunche was speaking Katanga police were driving trucks on to the airfield to prevent the plane landing as they believed it contained the first contingent of U. N. troops for Katanga.

The pilot replied: "Twenty-one. Can we land?"

The passengers were members of the U. N. technical assistance division.

Bunche replied hurriedly: "tell them to stay in the plane. Do not let anybody get out. You must all stay in the plane while it is being gassed up then we will return to Leopoldville together."

The white Convair with U. N. markings circled several times at low altitude over the airfield to permit the Katanga authorities to identify it.

Meanwhile, Bunche was explaining to Interior Minister Munongo that there were no troops on board.

Munongo accepted Bunche's guarantee but insisted that even civilians would not be allowed into Katanga until Bunche had reported back to Hammarskjold.

Munongo then gave the order for the trucks blocking the runway to be driven off to allow the plane to land.

Hanna Named To New Post At Northeast

The newly created position of dean of instruction at Northeast Louisiana State College will be filled by Dr. Clint O. Hanna, director of admissions at the college since 1954, it was announced yesterday.

The functions of the director of admissions will be absorbed by the registrar's office, which will become a part of the Division of Student Services. In his new positon Hannna will supervise the work of the academic divisions and departments at Northeast.

The appointment of Hanna places a dean at the head of each of the three major phases of the college — administration, instruction, and student services.

In December, 1954, several months after coming to Northeast as assistant professor of education, Hanna was named director of admissions. In 1956 he was promoted to the rank of associate professor and last year to that of full professor of education, in addition to his duties in the admissions office.

Hanna, who was born in Winnfield, received his bachelor's degree from Union University in Jackson, Tenn., and his master's in education from George Peabody College in Nashville. In 1954 he received his doctorate in education, also from Peabody.

He is president of the North Monroe Lions Club and is a member of the College Place Baptist Church. Hanna is married to the former Margaret Sue Nelle Masters of Silerton, Tenn., and the couple has three daughters. The Hannas live at 637 Lakeshore Dr.

Crowd Shocked By Former Nazi

Hjalmar Schacht, the financial wizard who mapped the Nazi war machine's economy, attended the ceremonies held in connection with Roman Catholicism's 37th Eucharistic Congress at the invitation of Munich auxiliary Bishop Johannes Neuhaeusler who presided.

Schacht, who was found innocent of war crimes at Nuremberg broke with Hitler late in World War II and was sent to Dachau where he met Bishop Neuhaeusler who spent several years there as a prisoner.

Many persons in the crowd, including federal and local officials, termed Schacht's presence as "tasteless" and "shameful."

EMPLOYMENT DROPS

June employment in the steel industry dropped 4 per cent from May to 579,629 and compared with 640,920 in June, 1959, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported Friday.

Hourly - rated workers averaged 34.5 hours a week in June as against 34.9 hours in May and 40.6 hours in June 1959.

REPORTS IMPROVEMENTS

The Commerce Department reported further improvements for U.S. industry in steel foreign trade during June. Steel exports continued to rise. A sharp increase over May lifted the June level to a 32-month high. The June level of steel imports was the lowest in 19 months.

CAR SALES SLIP

New car sales in July slipped 1.5 per cent below sales in the same month of 1959 — the first time this year that monthly sales of new cars failed to exceed the corresponding month of last year, Ward's Automotive Reports said. Ford Motor Co. suffered a 14.9 per cent decline in sales from the rate of models in July, 1959.

TRADE INCREASES

Retail trade this week increased moderately over the previous week and slightly over the similar 1959 period as a rise in sales of women's apparel and new cars offset declines in men's clothing and most major appliances, Dun & Bradstreet reported. Total dollar volume ranged from unchanged to 4 per cent higher than a year ago.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed unchanged to $1 a bale higher Friday.

The trading pace broadened with most of the activity in distant deliveries. The October 1961 and March 1962 contracts advanced to new highs for the season.

Commission house buying was again attracted to the market by belief that a return of Congress next week will result in a strong drive to boost farm income.

Picking of the 1960 cotton crop has expanded and this resulted in small hedging. These sales were readily absorbed.

Picking of cotton is becoming more active in the Rio Grande Valley and in California. The progress of the cotton crop in other sections of the belt was reported favorable.

Stocks Rally To Register Good Gains

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks pulled themselves up by their bootstraps Friday with a rally that restored nearly $3.5 billion to market valuations.

Price improvement, slow at first, picked up momentum as the day wore on. The bulk of the gain was scored in the final hour when prices generally reached their highs.

The current rally actually got rolling late Thursday afternoon as the market was caught in the throes of its third and heaviest setback of the week. But demand materialized in the last hour enabling the list to rally from wide mid-day losses to finish higher.

An increase in gasoline prices perked the recently neglected oil group. Gains here ran to ½ in Honolulu Oil, 1¼ in Texaco, 20 points in high-priced Superior of mid-day losses to finish higher.

An increase in gasoline prices perked the recently neglected oil group. Gains here ran to 2½ in Honolulu Oil, 1¼ in Texaco, 20 points in high-priced Superior of California, ⅝ in Jersey Standard and 1⅛ in Cities Service.

Chiefly responsible for the rise were gains of a point in Allied Chemical, 1⅛ in American Tobacco, 2 points in Eastman Kodak, 1½ in Anaconda, a point in Sears Roebuck, 1¼ in United Aircraft and 1¾ in Westinghouse.

Autos ignored the drop in retail car sales during July — the first time this year that sales trailed the year ago month—to show gain of ⅞ in Ford, ⅝ in Chrysler and ¾ in General Motors. American Motors countered with a loss of ⅛.

Aircrafts showed the same popularity that carried them higher even when the market has been weak. Boeing rose 1¼, Lockheed, Avco and Martin large fractions.

Grain

CHICAGO (AP) — Some wheat and soybean contracts climbed to their highest levels of the season Friday on the Board of Trade without any particularly strong direct commercial influences.

The wheat advances were narrow, never exceeding a half cent but soybeans were up well over a cent in spots at times. However, they retreated slightly on profit taking shortly before the close.

Rye was strong on the best mill demand in several months, corn and oats steady to easier.

Wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel higher at the close, September $1.86⅜; corn ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.16; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, September 67 cents; rye ½-1 cent higher, September $1.17½ - ¼; soybeans ¾-1⅜ higher, September $2.17¾-⅝.

A Navy pilot, flying a similar craft from a Naples, Italy, airfield failed to lower his wing tips upon takeoff, flew to an altitude of 5,000 feet and cruised for 24 minutes before landing safely. It is believed to be the first time on record that an aircraft has taken off, flown and landed safely with wings in this position. (AP Wirephoto)

TO MISTREATING SON

Former Miss U.S.A. Pleads Innocent

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Leona Gage, who once won the Miss U.S.A. title by keeping quiet about a husband and two children, Friday pleaded innocent to a charge of mistreating her son.

David Ennis, 5, whom she is accused of striking with a belt, played happily at home blowing bubbles while his mother went to court, she said.

Her past caught up with her again Thursday when newsmen learned that the Leona Covacevich, 21, being booked on charges of "endangering a child's life" was the same tall, brunette beauty who made headlines in 1957.

At that time Miss Gage, of Maryland, held the Miss Universe pageant's Miss U.S.A. title for just 24 hours. Then her marriage became known.

She has three children, two sons by her first husband, Air Force Sgt. Gene Ennis, and a son by her present husband, Nicholas Covacevich, a dancer.

She asked a jury trial, set for Sept. 29, and obtained a court-appointed attorney, saying she couldn't afford to hire one.

"I believe in strict discipline, but with love," she told newsmen. "I was spanked 50 times harder than I spanked my child.

"Parents today are not strict enough. That's why there is so much juvenile delinquency."

'Immaterial' Says Howard To Morrison

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard took on Mayor Chep Morrison of New Orleans again yesterday, but said Morrison's reply that he wouldn't have an ambassadorship was "immaterial."

Howard said Morrison was the only Democratic leader in Louisiana that he knew of who was supporting the party platform.

"The Democratic platform is entitled the Rights of Man," Howard said. "Since Mayor Morrison has endorsed it, we independent Democrats simply urge that he be consistent and give the Louisiana Democrats the right of a choice in November."

Morrison opposes Howard's idea of 10 unpledged electors on the November ballot. Unpledged electors attending the electoral college could vote any way they wanted.

Early in the week Howard said Morrison was against the move because Democratic nominee John Kennedy had offered him an ambassadorship to Latin America.

Morrison answered yesterday, "For Mayor Howard's benefit, I am not looking for an ambassadorship and would not accept one if one were offered to me."

"That's immaterial," Howard said yesterday when asked if he would like to reply.

He added, "Since Mayor Morrison has publicly declared himself in agreement with the Democratic platform, it's rather amazing that he could go the convention just after the gubernatorial race in which he campaigned on a platform of segregation and states rights and less federal control and now actively support a platform that advocates just the opposite."

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP)—The weekend supply of 4,500 butcher hogs Friday was somewhat more than expected and despite a fair shipper demand prices were 25 to 50 cents lower.

It was the sharpest setback in more than a month of generally steady to strong prices. Less than 50 head sold at the $18.65 top, the lowest peak in more than a week and 10 cents under Thursday's high. They weighed 200-220 lbs and graded mixed No. 1 and 2. Other mixed 1-2 and mixed 1-3 lots in the 190-240 lb range went at $18-18.40 and heavier weights down to $17.25. Sows were $13.75-17.

Offerings of 23,500 head for the week were the smallest of the year and 3,000 under last week's total.

Spring slaughter lambs were steady to 50 cents lower in a slow trade. The few mixed good and choice to prime kinds moved at $19-21. No ewe sales were reported.

SAYS DEFECTEE

Could Not Stand Castro's Antics

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—What led Raul Chibas to quit his top revolutionary post in Cuba and flee into exile for the third time, abandoning Premier Fidel Castro, the man he says was once like a brother?

"I could no longer stand what was happening to the revolution," said the 44-year-old Chibas, who took part in the "Show Case" trials in 1959 when foes of the revolution were prosecuted before jeering crowds.

"I fought side by side with Fidel in the Sierra Maestra," said Chibas. "Afterward, I watched mistake after mistake being made.

"I watched the drift toward Russia and away from all the Democratic principles for which I risked my life.

With his 28-year-old bride of two months, Dalia, and the help of an unidentified man, he sailed to Key West and political asylum.

Chibas reached Miami by auto, still wearing the heavy beard of the revolutionaries—"a mark of distinction for all of us who fought in the Sierra Maestra. Just because I have broken with Fidel, who was once like a brother to me, is no reason for me to shave it off."

In an interview, Chibas said Thursday that was his third trip into exile. The first was at the age of 16 after he had spent time in prison for activities against the Cuban government.

The second time was in 1957 when he was gathering funds for Castro's revolution.

Chiba was Castro's treasurer when he defected. He also had been president of the Western Railroad Co.

"One thing the American people should know," Chibas said. "The policy which brings Fidel closer each day to the Soviet Union is not dictated by his brother, Raul, and by Ernesto (Che) Guevara.

"Castro's decisions," he said, "are definitely his own."

LAND IN MIAMI

Cuban Brothers Ask For Asylum

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two Cuban brothers landed in separate C16 cargo planes Friday and asked for political asylum, climaxing a scheme to defect only when both were on American soil.

Hector Villamar Rodriquez, 23, copilot on Aeropostal Airline Flight 301, landed at 8:35 a.m. at Miami International Airport but he said nothing about political refuge.

He spoke out only after his brother, Jose Villamar Rodriquez, 29, had landed as pilot of the same line's Flight 305 at 10:10 a.m.

Both men asked for political asylum and to be paroled in the United States.

"Assuming that nothing unusual turns up, they will be paroled," said Edward P. Ahrens, district director of immigration here.

Ahrens quoted the men as saying they defected because they oppose the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro. They also said they did not like what they were being taught in Cuba, claiming Cuban pilots were forced to read Communist literature.

They said they had planned the defecting for some time but waited until both were in the United States at the same time. They said otherwise they feared possible reprisals against the brother still in Cuba.

Each of the planes caried another pilot. A spokesman for Aeropostal said both planes loaded general cargo and returned to Cuba.

FOR ELECTORAL VOTES

Kennedy Opens New York Drive

By WATER R. MEARS

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy flew into vote-heavy New York Friday for top-level conferences aimed at uniting the party behind his effort to capture the state's vital 45 electoral votes this fall.

"I'm sure we're going to get along fine," the Massachusetts senator said prior to his talks with both regular and insurgent leaders of the Democratic organization in New York. "Our object is to win the election in November."

Wedged in between Kennedy's conferences with party leaders were a speech at the Overseas Press Club before editors and publishers of foreign-language newspapers in the United States and a private, half-hour talk with Felix von Eckhardt, West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, has been in the United States for several weeks as a personal representative of the Chancellor for a first-hand survey of America's political atmosphere.

Generally, the Democratic candidate commented, "I'm not optimistic about summit meetings."

Kennedy said there first should be some success made on the ambassadorial or foreign ministers' levels in preparation for a meeting of heads of state.

The Democratic standard-bearer also talked by telephone with Herbert H. Lehman, former governor and U.S. senator, at the latter's vacation spot at Lake Placid, N.Y.

Lehman is one of the leaders of the so-called insurgent group within the Democratic state organization which has been at odds with DeSapio and Prendergast.

The Democratic presidential candidate told newsmen he had discussed party strategy with Lehman and that Lehman told him the situation in New York "is encouraging."

The Democratic candidate's formal campaign is scheduled to get under way early next month with trips to Alaska and Hawaii. His first major campaign speech within the continental limits of the United States is scheduled for Sept. 5 in Detroit.

Kennedy said that he and state Democratic leaders thus far had set no definite dates for campaign speeches within New York "but there certainly will be New York visits in September and October."

Kennedy talked with Von Eckhardt for more than 30 minutes about "common problems" between West Germany and the United States.

At the end of the talk, Kennedy told newsmen: "There is no division between the present administration, myself and the Democratic party over the commitment of this country to free West Berlin."

He said Von Eckhardt "gave me some information about what he thought the situation in Germany was."

For his part, Von Eckhardt told newsmen: "I notice with great satisfaction that the two great American parties will help stand firm on freedom of the people of West Berlin."

Joining Kennedy in his party organization talks here Friday were Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, a top adviser to the Democratic nominee; Michael Feldman, Kennedy's legislative assistant, and other influential Democrats.

Kennedy also had a conference with Abe Feinberg, board chairman of the Kayser-Roth Corp. Feinberg is active in Democratic politics in New York and has served on various fund-raising and other Democratic groups.

Kennedy's press aides emphasized, however, that the talk with Feinberg was not "a fund-raising visit."

They said the meeting was arranged at Feinberg's invitation. The meeting with Von Eckhardt also was arranged, they said, at the request of the West German leader.

Kennedy's speech and news conference for ethic newspaper editors and publishers was his first New York business. In his talk, he linked civil rights with United States-African relations.

Then he lunched privately with the editors of Time and Life magazines.

He told the overflow crowd of foreign language and national group newspapermen at the Overseas Press Club that "if we move ahead in civil rights and provide equal opportunity for all Americans," it will help relations with African countries.

When U. S. Negroes get "full and fair and equal treatment," he said, it will help in dealings with Africa.

Kennedy also pledged a continuing drive to bring freedom to people behind the Iron Curtain. He said freedom for the captive peoples is "unfinished business before the bar of world opinion."

Newsmen whose papers are aimed at Latin-American, European and Middle Eastern peoples in the United States questioned Kennedy on his views on foreign affairs.

Kennedy called for more liberal trade policies to help Eastern European nations toward freedom. He also pledged a drive for liberalized immigration laws.

Kennedy said U. S. ambassadors aboard never should be chosen "in the future on the basis of political contributions." He said knowledge of the language in the area served is essential.

Kenndy and his campaign manager, brother Robrt F. Knedy, have been trying to unite New York Democrats for the campaign, after a rift between the Prendergast - headed organization and an insurgent group led by former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman.

U.S. Polio Cases Decline This Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said Friday he was encouraged by the downward trend in the number of polio cases reported this year. But he warned that the decline may not continue unless more people are vaccinated.

Burney noted that "the dangerous period lies ahead," because polio normally reaches its peak in late August or early September.

Less than half as many polio cases have been reported so far this year as at the same time last year. In the first 30 weeks of 1960, 839 polio cases have been reported compared to 2,036 last year.

OUACHITA RIVER ACTIVITY

By JOHN TARVER
Staff Writer

The Ouachita River at Monroe-West Monroe is now at pool stage — some 14 feet deep — and shipping continues almost unhindered by traffic and railroad bridges.

Chief of Police James Kelly yesterday said records in his office show the city traffic bridge has been opened only 50 times since January 1 for boats on the river.

The traffic bridge at DeSiard Street is owned by the City of Monroe and federal law requires owners of bridges across navigable bridges to furnish personnel and equipment to turn or raise sections of them for river traffic.

Estimates of annual tonnage on the Ouachita through Monroe-West Monroe vary. A publication of the Ouachita River Valley Association places annual tonnage through the years 1955 to 1970 with present dam and lock facilities from 1.5 million to 2.5 million tons.

Available tonnage in the valley is only 1.5 million tons annually, the association reported in 1955.

PROJECTED GROWTH

The association further predicted that tonnage would grow to 313,500 tons annually by 1980 with the nine - foot channel recently approved by the Corps of Engineers for the river.

The river is now maintained at 6.5 feet.

However, the Army Engineers in Vicksburg reported two years ago that "the tonnage moved (on the Ouachita River) is nearly 200,000 tons annually, consisting of liquid sulphur, salt cake, chemicals, petroleum products, steel plate, logs, fish, and miscellaneous commodities."

Because regulations of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers do not require constant attendance of tenders on bridges on certain streams such as the Ouachita, it is many times difficult to see river activity.

Added to this is the fact that with the river at pool stage, boats on the Ouachita pass well beneath the bridges not requiring turning or raising the spans.

With fall approaching, river traffic will increase as will the depth of the river which will require more frequent bridge raising.

FEWER OPENINGS

In the future even less notice of river traffic by the public will be available because the trend today in river bridges is toward structures well above the water in order to allow traffic to cross without hindrance.

The Interstate Highway 20 bridge planned here will be some 88 feet above the river at pool stage which will cause no obstruction to river traffic and no bother to motorists.

And to illustrate the effectiveness of the vast mid - continent waterway system in the United States, portions of the steel to be used in building the I-20 bridge at Monroe - West Monroe arrived here last week by barge from Pittsburg.

It was hauled from Homestead, Pa., by other means, loaded on barges at Pittsburg for the trip down the Ohio River to Cairo, Ill., where it was shipped down the Mississippi to Angola, La., and up the Red, Black and Ouachita Rivers to Monroe.

Including the steel already arrived, some 5.5 million pounds will be shipped by barge this summer. The multi - million dollar bridge will require 18 million pounds of steel in construction.

The present system of locks and dams was put into operation in 1925 and the 268 - foot locks are manually operated. With the completion of the nine - foot channel and new system of mechanically operated locks it is hoped that a free interchange of towboats and barges with the Mississippi River and the Intracoastal waterways will result.

Present trends in shipping, the river association says, is toward boats of deeper drafts, increased engine power and heavier barges.

VALLEY MINERALS

The keel - boat brought the first settlers to the area and the side-wheeler and stern - wheeler developed the first agriculture. The screw - propeller towboats and barges began the development of industry.

At the start of World War II the river was left idle while all available boats went into defense work on the lower waterways. However, the locks and dams were kept in operation and in 1950 the engineers redredged the channel from Camden, Ark., south so that shipping could begin again.

The engineers now have in operation locks at Harrisonburg, Riverton, Monroe - West Monroe and Sterlington in Louisiana. Other locks are in operation in Arkansas.

The Ouachita heads in the Ozark foothills in Arkansas. There are two hydroelectric dams and two multiple - purpose dams on the upper reaches of the stream.

With the Black and Red Rivers as links, shipping from the Ouachita can move either north on the Mississippi or south on the Mississippi and Atchafalaya Rivers and on to the Intracoastal Canal.

Locks on the river are 55 feet wide and 268 feet long. When high water stage is reached, dams are removed and the river keeps its own level providing open navigation of more than the usual 6.5 feet.

Generally boats of the Ouachita have drafts of 4.5 to six feet and range in power from 400 to 1000 horsepower. Barges usually measure from 150 to 195 feet long by 35 feet wide.

The key river shipping through Monroe is the system of dams and locks without which the river would soon be almost empty.

In high water times, however, the river would be out of its banks. The dams are used to make several artificial pools all along the river and by efficient control of the water shipping can continue year round.

Jet Bomber Interceptor Test Success

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A Bomarc-A successfully intercepted a pilotless B47 Stratojet bomber over the Gulf of Mexico Friday as the jet made a simulated sneak attack on the northwest Florida coast.

It was the first time the Stratojet was flown without a pilot ready to take over the controls in the event of a failure in its guidance system.

The 47-foot Bomarc ground-to-air defense missile made a scheduled near miss on the two-million-dollar aircraft. Proximity fuses in its nose were set off as it swept past the bomber. These would have triggered a nuclear warhead had it been so armed.

The intercept was made at a range of 172 miles and altitude of almost seven miles as the bomber approached the coastline at a speed of almost 700 miles an hour.

The mission, the Air Force said, was to check the performance of some modifications made in the Bomarc's target-seeking system.

AFTER U.S. ELECTIONS

Soviet May Ask Summit Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev said Friday it seems "impossible to envisage" a new summit conference in advance of U.S. presidential elections in November. But he hinted he might ask for one thereafter.

The Soviet leader told British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in a letter he would like to discuss "basic issues of our time," such as divided Germany and Berlin, disarmament, a nuclear weapons ban and other cold war issues. He added he sees little prospects for a summit meeting before the American elections.

"If the Soviet government does not meet with understanding later, and if obstacles to agreement on these questions are put up, we shall conclude a peace treaty with the (Communist East) Germany Democratic Republic," he said.

The repetition of this warning—threatening to give the East German Communists full authority over access to isolated West Berlin—was made in reply to a July 19 Macmillan letter. Macmillan had expressed concern over Soviet policy and even raised the spector of an accident which could touch off nuclear war.

Khrushchev's statement that a summit meeting before November seemed impossible appeared to conflict with the latest Soviet policy gesture calling for a meeting of the heads of government of all 82 members of the United Nations when the world organization opens its session in September. The idea has been received with extreme coolness in the United States.

Khrushchev repeated other warnings, too, in characteristically blunt terms. Among these was a renewed threat to take "necessary" measures against the territory of any nation serving as a base for U.S. intelligence aviation.

Khrushchev chided Macmillan for supporting the United States in the recent U.N. Security Council debate over an American RB47 plane downed by the Soviet Union July 1. The United States said 81 had been downed over international waters.

Khrushchev also expressed annoyance with British support of the American contention that Khrushchev wrecked the mid-May summit meeting in Paris before it could get started.

"You have taken the same position," Khrushchev wrote, "as the aggressive forces in the United States. It is hostile to us. It is directed against us and we must draw the appropriate conclusions."

The Soviet Premier said the U.S.S.R. will continue along the lines of its present foreign policy.
